WE NOMINATE

William Shepherd Dix, Princeton University's internationally known librarian and an academic statesman of the front rank, who once again has lashed out effectively at those bent upon invading his world in an effort to determine and control what the public reads. At the annual summer convention of the 39,000-member American Library Association, Dix as the organization's retiring president told the delegates: "Books and libraries always come under attack at a time when we need them most. No tyrant can endure free books or the right to read, which creates independent thought."

Specifically, the 59-year old Dix, a native of Virginia and a Princetonian since 1953, was speaking of reports of "dissenters" being dismissed from college and public libraries and of instances where federal agents — connected with the Internal Revenue Service — had demanded library records containing the names of any and all persons who had checked out books on such subjects as guns and explosives. Dix was not objecting to lawmen armed with court orders based "on a judicial finding of reasonableness and limiting the searcher to specific objectives;" he was concerned with a growing threat to intellectual freedom stemming from "hysterical charges and counter charges."

Some weeks after Dix and his fellow librarians had raised their voices in Detroit, word came through the editorial columns of "The New York Times" that "the Internal Revenue Service has discontinued a practice so dubious that it could have been initiated only through the gravest lapse of administrative judgement." The nation's first "coordinated effort to gather intelligence information that makes Americans suspect because of what they read" had been set aside in favor of the American Library Association's Bill of Rights, a landmark document drafted in 1953 by a committee headed by Dix in the heyday of the late Senator Joseph R. McCarthy.

Called to Princeton from Rice University and now directing one of the country's foremost research libraries with a full-time staff of some 250 and a collection containing over 2,200,000 volumes, this scholar-librarian was hailed a year ago by his colleague in the New Jersey Library Association as this State's "Ambassador for Libraries." He was particularly cited for placing his expertise at the service of his adopted State and its institutions, including the New Jersey State Library, the Graduate School of Library Service at Rutgers and the New Jersey — wide reference network that has evolved with Princeton playing a major role.

Dix, a member of the Class of 1931 at the University of Virginia and a graduate alumnus of the University of Chicago, where he earned his doctorate in American literature, is prominent in an incredibly broad range of library agencies and has been deeply involved in UNESCO and other international cultural programs. The first chairman of the Association of Research Libraries, a member of a half-dozen library advisory commissions and an eloquent spokesman before Congressional Committees on behalf of his profession and higher education, Dix literally stumps the world, thinking little of sandwiching into his routine meetings and conferences in such distant places as Paris, Manila, Kuala Lumpur, Tokyo and Baghdad.

For his dedication to "the tough principles of democracy" and his skills in defending them, for ever expanding his horizons and working to find new approaches to library problems; for his vigorous leadership in a day of "growing fear and suspicion;" he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

SAFE ON A SCHOOL BUS

● Princeton's public school bus routes have been double checked this year for safety.

● Wherever possible — although not quite one hundred percent — no child has to cross a street to catch his bus.

● No bus will go across the Province Line Road bridge.

● In New Jersey, all public school buses are inspected twice a year by the Motor Vehicle Agency.

● But even so — "Parents have a responsibility for the safety of their children."

Safety is an acute, almost anguished concern this year for Ralph Bennett, transportation supervisor for the Princeton Regional Schools, and William Karch, manager of facilities and services for the schools.

Last year, a child was killed while waiting for a Princeton school bus. Seven youngsters were killed late this spring in a Pennsylvania charter bus accident. So parents and school administrators alike are alert and sensitive to safety.

Here's Your Route. Letters have gone out to each child and parent telling the child what his route is, where it runs and what the tentative bus stops are.

The explanation is detailed: "Route begins at the intersection of John Street and Avalon Place at approximately 8 a.m. It will proceed north on John Street, right on Birch Avenue, right on Witherspoon Street, left on Nassau . . ."

Boys and girls in grades six through 12, will have bus passes with the student's name, address and bus route number. The driver has a master list, and won't let anybody on board who isn't on the list.

With the letter and route is a booklet on school bus safety published by the state.

Parents Can Help. "We need parents' help!" Mr. Bennett emphasizes. "A parent ought to go with a very young child to the bus stop, wait with him until the bus comes, and meet him when he comes home in the afternoon. Or parents could take turns.

"This game of 'chicken,' running out in front of a car at the last minute! If parents were at the bus stops, they could prevent this."

Sgt. Anthony Nini, the Township's newly assigned full-time safety officer, has been consulting on bus routes and safety with Mr. Bennett and Mr. Karch, and developing plans for stricter safety measures.

Abandonment of that Province Line Road bridge, for one thing. It's weight factor of eight tons is more than a school bus weighs. But Mercer County engineers have been considering reducing the weight factor to five or six tons. It's a single traffic bridge and a bus going north has to make a big down grade S curve. In bad weather, it's bad.

And this year, drivers who scoot past a stopped school bus in defiance of state law, can expect to be nipped and fined.

IBM. For Messrs. Bennett and Karch, the most exciting thing about the opening of school has been adapting IBM's Vehicular Scheduling Program (VSP) to Princeton.

"We've been working with the VSP for some months now," says Mr. Bennett, rubbing his hands cheerfully over a printout. "You set up criteria and apply them to a punch-card for the computer: child's name, address, the 'zone' code for the area where he'll be picked up, the school's number in our coding department's code, the expected year of the child's graduation from high school — so a third-grader would have a code of '80, and that figure will stay with him all through Princeton school — the number of miles he lives from school, say, 2.8, and his telephone number."

The child isn't given an identification number, but there's room if the schools decide to do this.

"This information, of course, can be used in many other ways in the school system," Mr. Bennett adds. For example, for purposes of state aid, school officials can see at a glance how many kids ride a bus.

Also, if a school should be temporarily "lost" through fire, for example, youngsters could be scheduled quickly in to another school by taking only one or two additional steps on the punch card.

Printouts give the vital information on all children in a given bus route. The individual school — Riverside or the high school, or whatever — will have printout copies and so will the bus drivers.

Mr. Bennett and IBM have prepared a transparent grid, superimposed it on a giant Borough Township map and numbered each square to indicate an area where a child will be picked up.

"In our re scheduling of routes," Mr. Bennett continues, looking over his grid, "we've tried to get around the problem of the kid who's the first one out in the morning and the last one off in the afternoon: a route now will run the same way in the afternoon as it does in the morning."

Most routes will be different from last year's. There is only one really long route, to the Middle School, and this single long route eliminates the need for an extra route.

Feed It In. "The computer was a great help here. Suppose you want only 50 kids on a bus on a 40-minute run and you've got a one-way street to cope with. Feed it in. We could do this by hand, of course, but the computer has been great. Anyhow, maybe that 50 child limit makes 11 buses necessary because of your time factor. Increasing the time factor may eliminate one route, but make another somewhat longer. We always hope for only a 40 minute bus ride."

The IBM project cost an initial $2,500. Mr. Bennett estimates a yearly maintenance cost of less than $500, traceable to shifting from one school to another, and so on.

Here we Go! Princeton will have about 47 bus routes this year — roughly the same as last year. The system itself

STANLEY, YOUR SCHOOL-BUS FRIEND! School bus safety will be taught to Princeton's youngest pupils this year through a friendly school bus named Stanley. In addition to this big bright poster, there's a coloring book with a few remarks on safety and not dropping gum wrappers on the floor.

Early Deadline Set

Because of the Labor Day holiday Monday, TOWN TOPICS' deadline for display advertising in the next issue will be 5 p.m. Friday. Classified advertising must be changed or cancelled by that time but new classified ads will be accepted until 5 p.m. Tuesday. News material should be submitted as early as possible.

Driving Your Child?

If you're a Middle School parent, please don't drive into or stop at or leave your child at, the Community Park Swimming Pool parking lot when you take him to school.

That lot is for school buses and school buses only, says Ralph Bennett, transportation supervisor for the Princeton Regional Schools. Parents' cars not only don't belong, they add to the danger and traffic hazard.

owns seven big buses holding 54 58 youngsters, and three mini buses. The rest are contracted out. About nine routes will take some 400 kids to private schools.

Safety begins with the state's mandatory twice-year ly bus inspection. Every item checked on a regular passen ger car is inspected on a school bus as well.

In addition a school bus must have special flashing lights in working order a safety device with a working buzzer on the rear emergency door, a first aid kit (Princeton was once turned down by the state inspector because there was no pencil in the kit) a fire extinguisher an axe and a crowbar.

Perhaps most important is the exhaust system. Mr. Bennett says the state has been very strict on exhaust systems this year.

Curiously there are no state standards for tires. Princeton has its own, however rear tires must have four thirty seconds of an inch thickness and front tires five thirty seconds.

Belts? No. Safety belts? The suggestion has been turned down by Dr. Orville Parrish, transportation man for the state department of education. He warns that seat belts can actually be hazardous if not properly fastened. Suppose a bus takes a load of teen agers to Princeton High School. The next load is a group of small size elementary school boys and girls. The seat belts worn by the high school students will be too loose, and a child could suffer pelvic damage. He could also sustain head injuries as his head bounded forward to the back of the seat in front of him.

Without a seat belt, he would tumble to the floor on impact and be less severely hurt. Dr. Parrish believes.

Want to Drive? Either men or women can be school bus drivers and Princeton employs both kinds. Drivers must pass an annual physical examination. They must, of course, hold a standard New Jersey driver's license. In addition, they must pass strict depth perception and color perception tests. They must sit in a simulated car several times at various intervals for clock and of reaction time. And they must pass a written examination on the laws pertaining to school buses.

After a temporary license has been issued, state police and FBI investigate the driver applicant with an eye to weeding out alcoholics, sex deviates and the like. It may be four months before a permanent license comes through.

Princeton has 12 regular drivers and four other school employees who hold the special license. A few teachers have also passed the bus driver license requirements, which makes easier scheduling for field trips.

On the bus, the driver is in command. Discipline is handled by the child's principal, who can decide to "expel" a child from his bus. He may not, however, expel him from school. While the child is serving time, so to speak, it's his parents' responsibility to get him to school.

It has been suggested that it might be safer if an aide, a mother perhaps, rode the buses to maintain order; however, under state law only employees of the school system or pupils can ride the buses.

So next Wednesday is the day they roll. No more sleeping late, no more counting on mother for a ride.

Know who the luckiest, most privileged kid in Princeton is? There is one child, living in the remote northwestern part of the Township, who's the only kid, the only one, on his route.

Orientation Tuesday for Newcomers to High School

Freshmen entering ninth grade at Princeton High School and newcomers who will be entering the three upper grades for the first time this fall, are invited to an orientation session at the high school next Tuesday, September 8 at 1:15 p.m.

Freshmen and the new upperclassmen will gather in the school's auditorium for a welcome by the PHS Student Council. A Council-prepared skit will introduce everyone to the joys and tomults of life in a big high school.

Lynette Campbell, '71, recording secretary of the Council, is chairman of the welcome. She will introduce members of Council and the high school administration to the new students.

Then all the new arrivals will be given a tour of the building by upperclassmen who've been around for a while. Guides will also take the newcomers to their home rooms.

New students will get their class schedules and will receive a handbook of useful information. Newcomers who are upper classmen, will have a chance to meet their class officers.

Students are urged to attend even though they may have attended orientation sessions last spring.

AREA DRIVERS FINED

In Borough Court. Two Princeton area drivers were fined Monday in Borough traffic court by acting judge Donald R. Bryant Jr.

Daniel Holcombe, 18, Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction, paid $30 for speeding, and Reinhard Priester, 18, North Mill Road, Cranbury, $20, for careless driving. Mrs. Priester pleaded not guilty.

SOMETHING FOR THE GIRLS: The younger women of the town, some 250 strong turned out on the 50th anniversary of Women's Suffrage for a picnic, songs and speeches at Poe Field. Then followed an impromptu, gently militant parade by a small group on the Nassau Street sidewalk between the Garden Theatre and Tulane Street, led by Dr. Jennifer MacLeod (waving, above).

TOPICS Of The Town

"FEMINISM LIVES"

Is Women's Day Theme. The women's liberation movement rallied at Poe Field last week, in honor of the 50th anniversary of women's suffrage and marking the National Strike for Women's Equality. The rally banner, "Feminism Lives" keynoted the gathering.

Equipped with picnic lunch eon and numerous small children, an estimated 250 women attended, with a supportive group of about 35 men.

Organized by the Central Jersey chapter ofthe National Organization of Women (NOW) the rally included a talk by Dr. Alice Crozier of Douglass College, music by folk singer Cynthia Gooding and petition signing in behalf of the 26th Amendment barring discrimination because of sex.

In the evening, a program of films and readings about feminism was held in McCosh Hall. A collection of funds for the NOW Princeton University day nursery was taken.

The women ranged from moderates to militants. They all enjoyed, however, the ABC documentary film about "Ogle Day," the day the women employed on Wall Street turned the tables and ogled the men.

The sponsoring organization, NOW, has declared its goal as "Equal Rights . . . Equal Responsibilities." It distributes a 10-item questionnaire to potential members:

- Have you ever been paid less at a job for which a man would be paid more?
- As a child, did you ever resent being told you could not do something boys could do, simply because you were a girl?

- If you are married, did you regret giving up the name you had since birth?
- Have you ever had to choose between having an unwanted child or an illegal abortion?
- Have you ever resented that almost all the important political decisions are made by men?
- Have you ever had to give up a cherished hope or ambition because it was "unfeminine" or would "interfere with your duties as wife or mother?"

- Have you ever qualified for a job or promotion that you did not get because you are a woman?
- Have you ever wished that girls could approach boys for dates, instead of having to wait, hoping the boy would notice?
- Have you ever wondered if there might be something wrong with you because you do not enjoy doing all the things that women are "supposed" to like — cooking, sewing, housework, taking care of little children?
- After serving others all day have you ever felt too tired to even take a bath?

MEETING DATE CHANGED

For Township Committee. Next Tuesday, September 8 at 8 p.m. is the meeting date for Township Committee. Normally, Committee meets the first Monday in the month, but the Labor Day holiday has changed the calendar.

Committee plans to introduce an ordinance changing the old Open Space Commission to a Conservation Commission under a state law passed two years ago.

Under the new proposal, a Conservation Commission would have stronger powers than the present Open Space group. Chiefly these powers would be in administering open space areas and in deciding on their use. The ordinance allows the Conservation Commission to conduct research into the use of open space land, and to arrange the coordination of various bodies concerned with a given parcel.

Under terms of the ordinance the new Commission would have no fewer than five, but no more than seven members, one of whom must be a Township member of the Princeton Regional Planning Board.

On Tuesday, Committee will also introduce an ordinance amending the housing ordinance with some procedural changes.

Public hearing will be held on various traffic parking and standing regulations around public schools.

3RD LECTURE SERIES SET

For Fall Adult School. In addition to a greatly expanded program, this year the Princeton Adult School will offer a three lecture series, Art Forms in Today's World, Spatial Environment, and Exploring the New Feminism. For a complete list of courses see pages 24 and 25.

The Art Forms lectures, beginning at 8 p.m. each Thursday at Princeton High School, will survey the art world today and its relationship to our culture, and the highly diversified forms of its expression. Scheduled for the next hour, will be speakers on land use alternatives for the Middlesex Somerset Mercer region. Leading this series will be Dr. Paul Ylvisaker, professor of public affairs and urban planning at Princeton University.

The Women's Studies program, also set for 9 p.m. will provide a feminist analysis of our culture. All women in this series are noted in their respective fields, but the wind up speaker will be Dr. Kate Millett from the department of zoology at Bryn Mawr College, and renowned author of the best seller "Sexual Politics," on the cover of Time magazine last week.

The Adult School will begin on Thursday, September 24. This year, in order to accommodate more students with more courses, classes will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday as well as on Thursday evenings.

Contemporary Drama and Theater on Tuesday nights and Pre Columbian Art on Wednesdays will be held on the Princeton University Campus. Also the High School Equivalency courses will be held for 12 weeks an successive Thursday nights on English mathematics, social studies and natural sciences.

SEWING MACHINE TAKEN

From Parked Car. Mrs. Donna Anderson of Ancaster, Ontario, househunting in Princeton, told police Monday that a portable sewing machine had been stolen from her car while it was parked on University Place near the railway station between 7 Sunday morning and 9 the next morning. She valued it at $110.

Police said that the convertible top of her car had been slashed near the rear window.

Edgar A. Blair, 282 Witherspoon Street, reported to Township police last week that a $200 35 mm camera and a $50 table model radio had been stolen from his home. Police said that there were no signs of any forced entry.

POSTPONEMENT GRANTED

University to Show Plans Later. Princeton University won't present its detailed planning proposals to the planning board next Wednesday after all. The presentation will probably be made early in October instead.

John P. Moran, the University's general manager of planning, plant and properties, asked the Princeton Regional Planning Board this week for a postponement of the scheduled September 9 appearance before the board.

Architects and engineers for the University have some new ideas and some new material, Mr. Moran said. The road pattern, however, will remain essentially the same, he added.

The public side of Wednesday's meeting is expected to be brief, so the planners can go into executive session and decide whether to hear again the case of the Tower at Princeton.

Nine members of the 14-member board voted the Tower down by a 5-4 vote on August 4, and Tower promoters have asked the board for a second chance.

Site plans for University Store remodeling will be under public consideration on referral from the Zoning Board.

On Tuesday, September 15, the Regional Planning Board will hold another public meeting, scheduled when the board thought it would be devoting all of September 9 to the University's plans.

Preliminary plans of the Thanet Corporation to carve its Harrison Street North property into five acre lots, will be up for public hearing. This site, in the Township's Office Research zone, is where Thanet hoped at one time to construct a post office.

YEGGS GET $2200 YIELD

From Bowers Safe. Thieves ripped open a large safe in an office of Lewis C. Bowers and Sons, 341 Nassau Street, last week and escaped with a reported $2,200. Nothing else was taken.

Sgt. John J. Bellow, the investigating officer, reported that a window on the south side of the building had been pried open to get inside. The door to the office housing the safe was then forced open, he said.

Charles Bauer, controller for the architectural firm, reported the theft at 7:23 Friday morning.

Cycle Shop Entered. A door panel was kicked in late Thursday night to enter Kopp's Cycle Shop, 14 John Street.

Police arrived minutes after they received an 11:27 call from a resident in the area who reported hearing noises. The shop, however, was empty and the drawer to a cash register open. Owner Fred Kuhn told police that a small, undetermined amount of money had been taken. Patrolmen Gerald Patterson and James Agins investigated.

Wallet Stolen. A wallet containing $50 was taken from the room of a Princeton Seminary student last week while she was sleeping in her room at Hodge Hall.

Police said that when the victim awoke and asked, "Who is it?" the intruder used the pretext of asking for someone else and left hurriedly. After, the student checker her room and discovered he wallet missing. It was later recovered empty on Mercer Street.

ing $6 to a man who stopped him late Saturday night as he was walking on Washington Road near Prospect Avenue.

Thomas Raezer told police that when an unidentified man stopped and asked him for money he first refused. Then when he made a motion as if to pull something from his back pocket, he told police that he gave him his wallet. He described him as a Negro, 5'10, 140 pounds, wearing a purple shirt.

TRENTON YOUTH NABBED

Rifling Parked Cars. A 17 year-old Trenton juvenile was arrested by three members of the borough police last week after he apparently had looted three parked cars on Prospect Avenue. He had his head inside a fourth car when he was nabbed by Sgt. John J. Bellow and Patrolmen David Alston and David Lewis.

Concealed in some nearby shrubbery police found a tape deck and some tapes which were allegedly taken from a car owned by Anthony Amalfitano, 205 Witherspoon Street. A woman's wallet from a car owned by Lawrence F. Fitzgerald, 321 Witherspoon Street, was also recovered by the police. A dollar bill with the word "Mike" encircled on it that was allegedly in the wallet was found in the suspect's possession, police said.

A vent window of one of the cars had been broken; the others were apparently unlocked, police said. The youth was released in the custody of his parents to await action by juvenile authorities.

DRIVER HITS POLE

At Stockton and Lovers Lane. Mrs. Lenore T. vonJaskowsky, 50, 1004 Mercer Road, received contusions and a broken nose Thursday after her car failed to make a turn at Stockton and Lovers Lane and struck a pole. She was treated at Princeton Hospital.

Mrs. vonJaskowsky told police that as he was turning left onto Lovers lane she noticed a car that was tailgating in her rear view mirror. Her attention diverted, her small foreign car jumped the curb and struck a pole on the corner of the intersection. There were no charges.

Falls Asleep, Hits Pole. A Rocky Hill driver was charged with careless driving Sunday after he fell asleep at the wheel and struck a pole on Clearview Drive opposite Tee Ar Place.

The mishap took place at 2:15 in the morning. The driver, Gerald L. Grover, 23, told Ptl. Joseph Mazotas that he was very tired and must have fallen asleep. He sustained minor injuries.

UNDER DRUG INFLUENCE

Two Are Arrested. Sheldon R. Isenberg, 28, of Hibben Apartments, and a relative, June E. Sugarman, 19, of Falls River, Mass., were arrested last week by the Township police and charged with being under the influence of a legend drug — believed to be LSD.

Mr. Isenberg was later released in his own recognizance and Miss Sugarman in the custody of his attorney. Both were treated at Princeton Hospital, police said.

A 21 year-old Township man was arrested last week in the Unitarian Church parking lot during a routine motor vehicle check.

Robert G. Wright, 114 Dempsey Avenue, was arrested by Ptl. Musso after a small quantity of marijuana was allegedly found outside his car. Charged with possession, Mr. Wright is scheduled to appear in court this Wednesday.

EXECUTIONER: BRISTOL

In Mikado, Lee H. Bristol Jr., renowned throughout the area as a Lord High Executioner par excellence, will assume the role again this weekend when Gilbert & Sullivan's "Mikado" plays the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing (N. J.) State Park.

Mr. Bristol has played the part so many times it's hard to count, but the most recent occasion was in last spring's production of "Mikado" at the Kur by Arts Center, Lawrenceville.

In fact, the Open Air production is essentially the same as that one.

It will open at Washington Crossing this Friday and will play Saturday, Sunday and Labor Day at 8:30 p.m.

George Gallup Jr. will play the title role and Diane Curry will be the wicked Lady Katisha. The romantic leads — Yum Yum and Nanki Poo, will be sung by Sharon Dondaro and John McLain. Thomas Van Vranken will be pompous Pooh Bah. Lord High Everything Else Raymond Poole will be Pish Tush. Lucie Formwalt and Teri Vincent will be Pitti-Sing and Peep Bo, who, with Yum-Yum, complete the famous trimverate of the Three Little Maids from School.

Munroe Wade is the director, and David Agler is musical director of a chorus composed of Westminster Choir College students. Ruth Kay Walker is choreographer and Jack Rees producer.

FOR THE YOUNG

Pennington Chooses Play. 'Indians! Indians! Indians!', a new play by Michael G. Jordan Jr. of Railway's community theatre group, has been chosen by the Pennington Players, Inc. as their 1971 Children's Theatre Production.

Organizations that would like to schedule a performance of the play as a fund-raising event may call Miss Sandra M. Jefferson, 924-5295 between 5 and 7 p.m. weeknights. The play will be given by the Pennington group in March, and tryouts will be announced for January.

Last March, the Pennington Players gave Mr. Jordan's "The Kingdom of the Tiger" for many school and civic organizations. The Players have

IT'S NEW To Us

MIDIS & MAXIS SWING For Elle Patroos. You'll find the mini length at Elle, on Chambers Street, in a soft pane velvet suit, for instance, but the new look of the mid calf length skirts and gauchos has really caught the eye of Elle's young minded customers.

"We're selling a lot of midi," Mrs. Caroline Good of the sales staff told us last week. "And we have all the accessories to go with it — tight boots and clunky sandals."

And the maxi length is enchanting an increasing number of girls and women; dresses such as the maxi-length shift, sleek and slim in red knit, designed with a scoop neck and long sleeves. Wear it for parties or at homes, dressed up with Elle's exotic accessories from all parts of the world — a suede and snake skin choker and a wide, laced belt, perhaps.

Elle is strong on pane velvet, the soft, lustrous fabric that drapes so well. You'll find it in a cowl-necked jumpsuit; in a tailored, rose colored midi with an enchanting hood; and in a shimmering, little grey battle jacket and mini skirt.

One of the fun items at Elle is a severely plain dress in deep green, its bias skirt cut midi length in front and trailing to maxi in the back.

Swishing Skirts. Flared skirts have appeared at Elle — long, yet short of the ankle. They're made in thin wool fabrics — some plain, others patterned, but all with a deep ruffle at the hem. ($28.) For contrast, try the lavender suede midi cut severely straight, with a leather lace at the side. It is the kind of skirt that demands tight boots.

Hand embroidery is big this year. Elle has sold out its first lot of richly colorful dresses and blouses from Roumania and the second group should be in the shop by the weekend. Also among the hand embroideries are magnificent dirndle skirts from India, with the colorful detail a good 20" deep above the full hem. There are small mirror circlets stitched into the design.

If you're thinking about coats, Elle has a copy in her ringbone tweed of a 1918 model, deeply pleated, with an inset belt and buttoned double-breasted style. It's a fun piece, and will look very well on a slim beauty.

Coats, maxi and midi length, include very attractive rain coats with the shiny, crushed leather look. In navy, or red, or dark brown — midi length, and nicely lined. And there's a deep purple wool that will light some girl's eyes — designed with deep pleats in the back below the inset belt, four patch pockets in front and medium-sized matching buttons rimmed in gold.

Coats at Elle also include some amusing samples of the "tough look" toppers with marvelous pile linings that look like sheepskin. All midi, of course.

And a suede maxi in an incredibly beautiful shade of rose. The coat is stitched in widening tiers, making the hemline quite full.

For an impressive dress in plush velour, Elle carries a two-piecer with a long shaped skirt and a beautifully fitted top, buttoned with pearls. In coral, or in black, as you prefer.

Wandering around Elle, we were fascinated by the accessories. Patchwork clogs, for instance, with cork platform soles and heels, to go with anything. The clogs also come in solid shades of wine or brown.

The new boots, tight of course, vary from a little old lady buot that ends just above the ankle, with a small circling strap, to the knee highs that look so well with gaucho pants and open slit midis. The boots are comfortable, light weight leather look vinyl.

Tops for the skirts and gauchos (which are really like midi length cullotes), range from heavy cotton sateen to knits. Most are fitted and most are designed to be worn tucked into the skirt.

And for a final plunge, see the Bedouin burnoose of a burnt orange, trimmed in brown silk braid — hooded and flaring about one thousand miles wide. From Morocco for you.

PLAID SLACKS FOR MEN At The Country Squire. There's a truly wonderful collection of wool plaid slacks that has just arrived at the Country Squire, 20 Nassau Street.

Tattersalls, hunting and dress plaids, glens, whatever you like. Some are bold, others are subdued heather tones. All are pure wool.

The plaids are being worn these days at weekend and cocktail parties. Add a sweater or a sports shirt or a solid color sport coat as the occasion demands.

The Country Squire also has the new wide wale corduroys. Its original order, due in September, arrived in July and when we were there only five pairs were left. The reorder is due in any day, Joe Cox

A Knack For Knickers

Elle on Chambers Street has some slim, wonderful knickers in hundreds of prints and plaids, to wear with thick walking shoes and knee socks — or boots, if you prefer.

The fabric is corduroy, and the price is $16. You'll also find bias cut plaid midi skirts in similar fabrics with the very new center peak waisthands.

been doing children's theatre in Mercer County for the past 12 years.

Mr. Jordan has directed children's theatre for The Reviewers of Rahway, the community theatre group. "The Kingdom of the Tiger" won first place for best script in a New Jersey Theatre League competition and second place in the 1964 National Children's Playwriting contest.

The Pennington Players will begin general meetings on October 27 and have extended a welcome to anyone interested in theatre.

Meetings are held the last Tuesday of each month at 8:15 p.m. in the Old Free House Main Street Pennington. Information may be obtained from Mrs. J.M. Rees 466 0301

GARDEN

Rider on the Rain (now playing) is a mystery film from France. It is not a detective thriller that has to depend on violence and gore for shock effect or on jazzy camera work for its effects.

The heart of it is a battle of wills between a young woman who lolls a stranger who invades her home and rapes her while her husband is away and the U.S. Army colonel looking for the slain man. He deduces what has happened and attempts to break the lady down and force her to confess that she has committed the crime and dumped the corpse into the seas.

The plot material is handled masterfully, with a cool kind of suspense slowly growing out of the situations. Marlene Jobert and Charles Bronson play out the cat and mouse game beautifully — she using demure exterior to hide her wily nature, while he smiles like a Cheshire cat and moves from verbal persuasion to physical force in his tactics. The minor characters are delineated in interesting detail, and the color photography by Andreas Winding is breath taking

PLAYHOUSE

Beneath the Planet of the Apes (now playing). For all the moviegoers who wondered what happened to Charlton Heston and Linda Harrison after they headed into the Forbidden Zone at the end of "Planet of the Apes" several years ago, the follow up is here.

Film sequels are frequently inferior to their originals, but this one is imaginative, though it lacks the droll humor of the first.

Charlton Heston makes a mysterious disappearance early in the movie, but he turns told us. The corduroys are very soft looking, deeply piled. Choice of color ranges from greens to golds, russet and natural.

Sweaters at the Country Square continue to be the time tested, always attractive shetlands. This season's crop comes in plain knit heather tones or in cable knits in solid colors.

For the knowing stylist, belts are a little wider this year some are lengths of thick cowhide in a mustard tone, others are braided, and still others are the ribbon stretch belts with feather ends.

Ties at Country Squire are a moderate 3" width, and include excellent knits of mohair and wool in solid colors. Bowties, however, are offered in two widths the wide, "butterfly" and the slimmer "Guheen" version. All are silks in nice paisleys and small prints.

Country Squire, which keeps firmly away from the wide lapel look, is offering the new twill cloth sport coats that look very wearable and durable. The solid colors include gold, deep red and blue.

There are also sport coats of shetland wool with minute black and red bars worked vertically at reasonably spaced intervals. These are very attractive.

The Country Squire carried the famous Baracuta raincoats with zip in linings. The color choice is natural, black and British tan.

Top coats at the Squire range from a black and olive plaid Bal to eamel's hair and wool polo coats. The latter was the shop's biggest seller last year.

Signs Of The Times

The Country Squire on Nassau Street is beginning to recoup the student trade, lost to the Ivy look for many a year.

Princeton University seniors are coming," Joe Cox tells us. "They need our kind of clothes for job hunting. One senior told me last spring, 'This is the first suit I've had since eighth grade!'"

The Squire last March was asked by an inquiring reporter from the Wall Street Journal, "Are you selling lots of mod suits down there?" Surprised to find that the shop was holding out with the Ivy League look, in a town of 3,000 blue jeaned college students, he printed a paragraph on the front page of the Journal that brought the Country Squire inquiries from conservatives as far away as Texas.

up again for the explosive climax. Miss Harrison, as Nona, the human who can't talk, finds James Franciscus, a crash-landed astronaut, in the desert of the planet. He becomes her companion for a series of adventures.

Most of it is fun. The sets, especially those of New York in ruins, are fascinating. In Panavision and color, too.

PRINCE

Catch 22 (now playing) Mike Nichols' film version of Joseph Heller's best selling novel of World War II is close enough to the original to please most readers of the book. Buck Henry (who also co-authored the script of "The Graduate") has retained a sufficient number of the alternately comical, outrageous and blood-curdling episodes.

The squadron briefing scene in which General Dreedle, played by the gargantuan and still formidably talented Orson Welles, is annoyed by the moaning noises the airmen make while leering at the sexy WAC who always accompanies him, has been so cleverly recreated that it is hilarious.

Alan Arkin, who plays Yossarian, the slightly mad nonconformist and loner who just wants to be grounded and sent home, is superb. Also very front and center is Jon Voight as Milo, the shrewd opportunist who sets up an army "syndicate."

Other actors who sketch their caricature roles sharply and quickly are Richard Benjamin as the cheerful cynic, Captain Danby; Anthony Perkins as the boyishly appealing chaplain; scriptwriter Henry as the nasty Lt. Col. Korn, Bob Newhart as Major Major and Paula Prentiss as Nurse Duckett.

The settings, filmed in Mexico and Rome, contribute to the atmosphere of fantasy required. David Watkins' photography is a thing of beauty. One memorable shot among many is that of the rickety B-25's taking off in an awkward formation looking like wind-battered butterflies.

THIS SEASON THERE IS A KNIT COSTUME . . .

with a nicely put-together look. The brown and white striped coat is accompanied by a brown sleeveless dress. In sizes 6 to 16.

WOMEN'S LIB DEBATED: Miss Phyllis Greene (left) doesn't see any sense to it and Mrs. Jessica Lampkin hopes the more constructive aspects of it will be publicized. For other opinions on the increasingly pervasive Women's Liberation movement, see below.

Question Of The Week

Question: What is your opinion of the Women's Liberation movement?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Miss Phyllis Greene, 20 Chestnut Street, secretary: I simply don't see any sense to it at all. It just seems to me like a big publicity campaign for certain women and I don't see any great cause that they've been fighting. Personally, I don't feel that I've been persecuted or held down in any way because I'm a woman.

Mrs. Jessica Lampkin, 359 Nassau Street, assistant to children's librarian: I think women should try to be responsible career women as well as wives and mothers, but they should never forget the most important role of being a woman: being feminine. I do not think the radical fringe of the movement who refuse to wear women's clothes and so on are helping their cause. I hope more constructive things that organizations like NOW are doing, such as starting children's nursery schools, will receive more publicity in the future.

Ray Fisher, Hamilton Square, printer, Princeton Herald: I think it is just a lot of bunk. They've got their liberation right now and they've had it for a long time. They have just as much freedom as any man. They have it right now. I feel they can do anything they want to, from what I see.

Mrs. Patricia Robinson, 140 Little Brook Road, teacher: I think it's inevitable. These treads of gradual advancement of women started earlier — in the 20th Century, if not before. I'm in favor of it. To me the idea of a woman having two complementary activities — a career as well as marriage — is good. At its best it would complement family life. As far as how the men may feel about this, I really don't think any secure male has to worry about the Women's Liberation Movement.

Don Papier, Trenton, optician for Dr. Frederick Laschever: Personally, I think they have the right to go forward and to feel they are equal but I don't think it will ever come to the point of a woman president.

Mrs. Cecelia Zan, East Windsor Township: The only thing I can say is I can't understand why they feel as they do. I really feel somehow they haven't made it as a woman either sexually, emotionally or psychologically. This doesn't necessarily mean it is their fault — it could be due to circumstances beyond their control, a childhood experience — but I feel each one basically has this in back of her mind. She's mixed up and uses the liberation movement to take out her aggression. Yes, I'm opposed to it.

Leon Redding, Trenton, school security officer: I feel it's been like that all along. They get all our money and everything else. They already had their freedom. The only thing they may not have yet is equal wages and they've got their foot in the door for that.

Mrs. Carol Churi, Hightstown, housewife: Some of their views such as marriage being nothing more than legalized rape: I don't agree with. Some things they are trying to do, such as bringing women up to the same level as a man or at least be treated the same way are good. They are a little extreme, I feel, which is what usually happens to such groups. They have a lot of good points but get carried away.

Miss Betty Urich, Boston, medical secretary: In some respects, I am in favor of what they are trying to do because there is discrimination against women, definitely. I approve of the less radical groups like NOW.

Sam Olson, Princeton Seminary, student: I think they have some good points. For example, I don't think they should be discriminated against in salaries but there are areas in which women differ emotionally than men so they can't expect to change their personalities and such through a liberation movement.

Miss Karen Hoffman, Lawrenceville, nurses' aid: I'm opposed to it. They are going to end up getting us in the draft at the rate they are going. If they are going to have it, they'll have to go all the way: we should be eligible for the draft. This is what they want. Certain things I agree with. Salaries for one. They pay more for a man in my profession than they do for us, mainly for his greater strength. Basically, I'm against it. I like to be a female. I like to have chairs pulled out and doors opened for me.

Bob Dixon, Willingboro, Princeton optician: I think they are cutting their own throats. Why? If they have the same rights as men, I feel it will lead to far more marital problems. The courts will rule in favor of the man more, there will be less alimony. If they want these things, fine. If they do get it, however, I think you will find more divorces.

Mrs. Patricia Heath, Morrisville, Pa., employee, Institute for Advanced Study: I really don't believe in it. I go along the lines of equal rights on the job but basically women still want to remain women. Most of us still want to remain feminine. I still want a guy to open the car door for me and light my cigarette.

Borough's "Tragic Blunder."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Borough officials are making a tragic blunder by installing parking meters at the Princeton railway station, thereby harassing the commuter who is already threatened with a 25% upward hike in railway fare.

The premise of the Borough is that the P. J. & B. commuters will rush with delight to insert their 50c coins in the shiny new and glistening parking meters. But this is hardly so. From conversations with many of the commuters, their patronage of this excellent facility will immediately cease. They will either drive to the JUNCTION or commute via bus into Fun City and I among them.

Besides harassing the commuter, the Borough is very short sighted in allowing an excellent electrical railroad service to die, never to be restored. And this is where the real tragedy lies. What better reason than falling off of patronage and traffic could the railroad offer to the Public Service Commission?

The Penn Central, the University and the bus company will be the gainers, while the hard pressed commuter and possibly the Borough will be the losers. The Borough is deliberately playing into the hands of the railroad which will gladly jump at this opportunity to abandon this branch, thereby putting the right of way up for sale and for ultimate acquisition by the University.

As originally stated the parking meters would just about pay for themselves by the time the station is to be moved. But if they are so little used that they do not pay for themselves, the parking meter company will be the winner and the Borough (meaning the taxpayers) will be the loser.

Borough Policy Questioned.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Thank you for publishing the letter of Mr. Howard Eldridge on the subject of outdoor telephones. He will be interested to know that there has indeed been an official policy against them in Princeton Borough.

Several years ago, bewildered friends from out of town wrote to the mayor after their return to California. They had enjoyed and appreciated Princeton but could not understand why it was so difficult to find a telephone when they needed directions. Perhaps an outdoor telephone or two might solve the difficulty? Mayor Patterson replied that such installations were the gathering places of undesirables and therefore not wanted in Princeton.

Certainly the absence of such telephones makes very difficult the enforcement of parental instructions to keep in touch. It is not hard to imagine circumstances in which access to a telephone might make a great difference. If indeed official policy still prohibits outdoor telephones on Nassau Street our Borough is criminally negligent rather than merely inhospitable.

Objections to Tower

To the Editor of Town Topics:

To bring his discussion down in the matter of the Tower to public attention Mr. Fisher, a member of the Regional Planning Board, recently wrote the editor of the Town Topics. I cannot agree with Mr. Fisher's views.

I cannot agree with his view that the action taken by the board on August 4 abridged constitutional principles which he equates to equal protection under the law, nor with his assertion that the board had substituted arbitrary rule by the people for the rule of law. It is my understanding that fundamental to the Jeffersonian ideology and to the traditions of this nation is, in fact the concept of government by the people.

I had always thought that the law, in our democracy was an expression of the will of the people made in full awareness of the rights of each individual member and designed to protect each individual and the public interests. That the will of the people is primary and the written law second, is a logical extension of this concept.

The board, I believe, acted as Cleveland stated, as servants of the people to execute the law which the people had made. I think the board deserves high commendation for eschewing Pharisaic attitudes and maintaining the basic principles of our form of government not accused of imperiling the freedom of all individuals.

Further, I cannot accept Mr. Fisher's representation of some of the specifics in the site review decision as fact. In his letter he stated unequivocally that the applicant had complied fully with every condition of the ordinance. Yet it is still not clear whether the ordinance even permits construction of office buildings of this type in the service zone.

This point has been raised by an attorney, and, in my amateur legal view there are several arguments to be made for the interpretation that it is not permitted by the ordinance. Regardless, however, of our amateur legal opinions, Mr. Fisher's and mine, it seems presumptuous in view of this question to state unequivocally that the architects have complied fully with every condition of the ordinance.

Finally, I must also disagree with his statement of fact that only two significant objections to the plan had been raised. This may well be Mr. Fisher's opinion. It is not mine. My own view is that at least three objections must be considered significant. The additional objection to which I attach significance is the height of the proposed building. I think it significant because many correspondents to the newspapers seemed to agree and because many of those who signed our petitions also agreed.

And it is significant also because an eleven or twelve story building is clearly not in harmony with the Princeton we all know and appreciate. It will surely establish a precedent for more such construction and the certainty of the attendant problems this course of events will create. I do not believe the choice before us is between a few tall buildings and many lower ones which cover the ground. I believe the choice is between these two possibilities and the preservation of Princeton. I would hope our architects might well come up with a challenge to the [illegible] JOHN W. BALMAN, JR.
[illegible] Mr. Lucas Rd.

Is it Legal?

An entry for your column of praise by the administrators of Princeton Schools.

Secretary Gal Monday to Friday 12 months a year, steno a must since boss doesn't like to listen to dictaphone replays, typing plus switchboard relief other duties include clearing office pot. Please call Personnel Office Princeton Regional Schools, 924-5600, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. to arrange an interview week of August 31, 1970.

Can the advertiser legally request a Gal? I'd be interested in your reply to this question. Thank you.

PHYLLIS MARSTELLER
9 Mercer Street

Editor's Note: Stanley Stein, Personnel Director for the Regional Schools, explains that the term Gal Friday is used here in a generic sense to mean all round secretary stenographer male or female. Under state law, discrimination by sex applies specifically only to housing, however William Fitch, Executive Director of the Princeton Joint Civil Rights Commission says that a conference was held in Newark early this week to explore the meaning of the law in terms of discriminatory practices in "help wanted" advertising.

It's Always Karate Time at the Public Library

Boys, more and more of them, are checking out the Princeton Public Library as a good place to learn karate, brush up on building airplanes or listening to "Hair."

By deliberate aim and design, the library's staff has been stock-piling teen boy books. "How to Make and Fly an Airplane," a biography called simply "Dylan," the cartoon book called "Hooray for B.C." and curiously popular, "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie." There's a book about "The Rolling Stones," too.

These are paperbacks. You don't check them out in the usual formal manner: you merely sign them out on the honor system with name and address. Robert Staples, librarian, reports a 75-80 percent return.

On the hard-back side, the library has all of Kurt Vonnegut Jr., who is widly popular with the young, girls as well as boys. And Hermann Hesse, who is almost as much so.

Books on karate or judo never even see the stacks, they're that much in demand. In fact, suggests Mr. Staples, touching on a currently sensitive community nerve, the library's reading public might rather have the library spend money to buy more books and more copies of popular books, than to keep the library open more days.

My Life and Times. "The kids read Joan Baez' biography 'Daybreak' and Woody Guthrie biography 'Bound for Glory,' and 'The Beatles' and you know what they still love to read? 'Up the Down Staircase!' New generations come along, but I guess high school life doesn't change."

"To Kill a Mockingbird" is a perennial favorite: some kids read it again and again. They come back to "Peanuts" and "Great Cartoons of the World" and an Indian-southwest book, "Red Sky at Morning."

Sports books bring in record crowds: "A Sense of Where You are," about Bradley of the basketball court; "Instant Replay" for the football fans.

"Hair." Few public libraries, Mr. Staples believes, have the extent, breadth and sophistication of Princeton's record collection. There are three copies of the "Hair" record. (No, the library doesn't have its foreign-language pressings, although there have been many requests.)

The Beatles' "Let It Be" and Paul McCartney's own record are on the racks and of course, folk albums are everywhere.

Panic! "It's book list time — kids are beginning to panic," Mr. Staples reports with an understanding smile. "All summer to read those list books, and they wait until just before Labor Day."

In the young people's department, a favorite book is "King of the Drag Strip," with "Harriet the Spy" sneaking up in popularity.

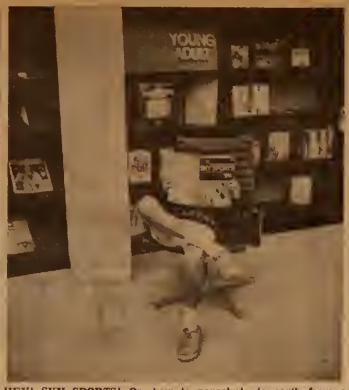
Adventure, the old favorite biographies — kids love books like these. Standards like the Landmark books, however, are received cooly by young Princeton readers, according to library figures.

Sesame Street's books, on People, Puzzles, Shapes and Things made summer pleasant for many youngsters. And for fall, there is E.B. White's first book in a long while, "The Trumpet of the Swan."

Your Move. Games are always spread out for the air-conditioned comfort of the library's customers. They were originally intended for teenagers, but Mr. Staples has found businessmen stopping by for a game of checkers during lunch-hour.

Scrabble, chess, Chinese checkers and picture puzzles have also been thumbed over the summer by people playing games.

A favorite pastime, of course, is to sit at your favorite game with your favorite partner and ear-phones on your head while you listen to your favorite record.



HEY! SKY SPORTS! Or, how to parachute to earth from a chair at the Princeton Public Library. Young Adults, especially Young Male Adults, are finding more and more library books geared to their interests.

SRO At Library

More than 1,100, young and old, went to the Princeton Public Library's Tuesday night films during the eight weeks the series ran, according to Robert Staples, who runs the library.

"We had a fine cross section of the community," he reports, "and real variety in our audiences."

On Thursday mornings, the film cartoons for the youngest customers, were always standing-room only.

Mr. Staples likes the capacity houses, but he did have to turn people away sometimes, and this is sad indeed. Projecting ahead, so to speak, he hopes for a third floor on the present library building by 1975, with plenty of room for everybody.

$50,000 GRANT GIVEN

To Princeton University. Dr. Robert F. Goheen, President of Princeton University, and Edwin H. Snyder, Chairman of the Board of Public Service Electric and Gas Company, today announced the grant of $50,000 by Public Service to the University in support of hydrogen fusion research.

Several recent successes in the 20-year-old quest for a clean, cheap, abundant source of electric energy have given rise to a surge of optimism among workers in the field, and to the widespread belief that controlled hydrogen fusion can be demonstrated in the 1970's.

Fusion research has been supported at Princeton, and elsewhere in the United States, largely by the United States Atomic Energy Commission. It is a program of national interest since, if successful, a practical fusion process using a part of the hydrogen in ordinary water could safely produce unlimited quantities of power without smoke, carbon oxides, sulfurous gases, or radioactive ashes.

Melvin B. Gottlieb, Director of the program at Princeton, stated that while AEC support has been and continues to be essential, it is nevertheless timely and perhaps even crucially important that federal funds be supplemented by grants from the electric utilities. "It is fair to say," he commented, "that more progress has been made in the last year than in the previous ten. We now know what must be done to establish, during the 1970's, the feasibility of fusion power.

MIGRANT DINNER HELD

Last Sunday at the Y. The last dinner of a regular Sunday series for area migrant workers was held Sunday at the Princeton YM YWCA.

Sponsored in part by the Family Service Agency of Princeton, the Sunday evening activities throughout the summer have been supported by several local religious groups. The last dinner was prepared by the Unitarian Church and the Princeton Chapter of Hadassah.

CRAFTS ON DISPLAY

At Gallery in Middlebush. An art and craft collection, by Mrs. Gerry S. Kimble of Princeton, is now on display at the Munsell Gallery in the Villagers Barn Theater, Colonial Farms, Amwell Road, Middlebush.

The Gallery is open at intermissions during the production of "The Sign in Sidney Brostein's Window," which will run Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings through September 20.

A professional in china painting and watercolor, Mrs. Kimble has supplied craft shops throughout the U.S. for many years, and more recently founded the Now n' Then shop in Cranbury. She has also taught decoupage and worked in occupational therapy, oil painting and crafts for patients of Merwick in Princeton.

Mrs. Kimble, a native of Coral Gables, Fla., has lived in Princeton for the past 30 years. Among her membership in various local art associations, she also holds a charter membership in the Danish Handcraft Guild in Copenhagen.

DR. SPOCK TO SPEAK

At Fund Raising Program. The Hunterdon Conference on American Problems has announced that Dr. Benjamin Spock and Leon Bibb will appear in a public program on Sunday, September 13, at the Hunterdon Central High School Auditorium on Route 31 in Flemington at 7 p.m.

Dr. Spock, well known for his book "Baby and Child Care," has been a member of the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy since 1962. He is presently Co-Chairman of the National Conference for New Politics, with James Rollins of the Congress on Racial Equality (CORE) of St. Louis.

Dr. Spock became well known in the field of contemporary American problems when he was convicted in June 1960, with the Rev. William Sloane Coffin, the chaplain of Yale University, an others. In a Boston Federal Court of conspiracy to "counsel, aid, abet" violations of the Selective Service Act. He was acquitted by a higher court in April, 1970.

Leon Bibb, an NBC and Vanguard Recording artist, is a well known folk singer whose home was originally Louisville, Ky. The proceeds from the program will be used by the Hunterdon Conference to establish and maintain an Information Center.

The Information Center, which is designed to coordinate available information about programs and problems in the areas of draft counselling, welfare rights, the needs of the elderly, drug problems and abuse, and the rights of students and protesters, opened Tuesday at 26 Main St., Flemington

Tickets may be purchased at the door for $5 for adults, $3 for students, and $10 for a reserved seat. Sponsors' tickets include Townsship and Willard R. are $25 which includes cock tails and dinner with Dr. Spock and Mr. Bibb, before the performance. CITIZENS GROUP FORMED

To Support Rep. Thompson. Formation of a citizens' group, Thompson's People" to support the re election campaign of Congressman Frank Thompson, Jr., was announced today by four of its sponsors. They are William J. Brennan, III, and Garrett M. Heher, Princeton attorneys; Paul G. Levy a Trenton attorney, and Edward F. Meara, III, a public relations executive from Trenton.

Others who make up the Thompson's People' steering committee that is still in the process of formation include Arthur H. Anderson, III, of Trenton, Barry Gardner of Hackettstown, William Granville, Jr., of Trenton; Sanford L. Hollander of Newton, Thomas C. Jamieson, Jr. of Lawrenceville Township and Willard R. Young, III, of Lebanon

Levy, acting as spokesman for the organization said that it would distribute special issue material highlighting Thompson's record in Congress and would set up a Speakers' Bureau

"We strongly believe that the important local and national problems that concern all Americans make it vitally necessary that we return an experienced and resourceful leader of the caliber of Frank Thompson to Washington in November," Levy asserted

He said that the issue material to be compiled by "Thompson's People" would include the Congressman's public record in such fields as environmental pollution, crime control, education, and urban programs; also on veterans health, labor, the aged, human rights, consumer protection, conservation, and Congressional reforms.

YOU'RE INVITED

To Democratic Party. A "Country Party" will be given Saturday, September 12 from 4 to 8 p.m. by the Princeton Community Democratic Organization at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abbot Low Moffat, Pheasant Hill Road.

Rain date is Sunday, September 13. The "Party" is open to all, with a $3 admission fee for adults. Children are free.

Pony rides, raffles, games, free beer and food are the features of the "Party." Set ups will also be provided.

Langford Bolling and Mrs. Moffat are co-chairmen. Other chairmen are: Mrs. Samuel Nini, food; Mrs. James Floyd, hostesses; Mrs. William Broadwater, tickets; Mrs. Sheldon Hackney, manpower and Mrs. Archibald S. Alexander Jr., publicity.

All Democratic candidates for public office in Princeton will be present. Congressman Frank Thompson has said he will come, and Senator Harrison Williams hopes to attend.

Proceeds will benefit the campaigns of the three Democrats running for local office: Joseph Moore and Martin Lombardo, who are seeking seats on Borough Council, and Jay Bleiman, who is running for Township Committee.

RIDER NAMES SPEAKERS

For Public Opinion Course. Rider College's Evening School will begin its second decade this fall of its symposium course analyzing Public Opinion and Propaganda featuring six distinguished citizens as lecturers.

A newcomer to this year's course will be Harry W. Seamans, retired coordinator of organization liaison for the Bureau of Public Affairs of the U.S. Department of State.

For more than 20 years Mr. Seamans supervised the liaison office for the Bureau of Public Affairs in close public relations with top leaders of all categories of 225 major national organizations.

Two lecturers have been with the program since its inception September 7, 1960 and they are scheduled to appear again for this year's series. They are Tom Durand, public information officer for the Department of Institutions and Agencies for the State of New Jersey, and William Kurtz, legislative budget and finance director for the State of New Jersey.

Dr. Kenneth Maxwell, chairman of the political science department at Rider College and director of the Public Opinion and Propaganda forum, was also on the opening program 10 years ago when he was then serving as executive director for the Department of International Affairs of the National Council of Churches.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY: There's more than one meaning to the word "party" and the Princeton Community Democratic Organization is taking advantage of both. The Democrats will hold a "Country Party" on Saturday, September 12. Here under the planning umbrella, are left to right Mrs. Abbot Low Moffat, at whose home the "Party" will be held; Mrs. James Floyd, Mrs. Sheldon Hackney, Mrs. Joseph Moore, young Benjamin Alexander; Mrs. Archibald S. Alexander Jr. and Mrs. Jay Bierman.

George Gallup Jr., president of the American Institute of Public Opinion, will again appear on the symposium this year. His father Dr. George H. Gallup, founder of the famed polling agency, was featured in the first series.

Other experts in the field of public opinion scheduled to appear this fall are Edward L. Fischer, formerly of the staff of J. Walter Thompson Co. advertising agency in New York City, and Joseph F. Van Hart, public relations specialist for the Philadelphia Electric Co.

The symposium course will begin September 16 and will be held every Wednesday evening from 8:20 to 10.

A Hobby of Hot Rods Has Its Rewards

TWO YEARS OF WORK AND $5,000 BRING RESULTS: Sitting in his much-modified 1914 Model T Ford Pickup Truck, George Tibball receives this year's "Best in Show" Award from the queen of the New Hope Automobile Show. With him is Kurt Fleischman, a neighborhood boy, who helped build the car.

George Tibball has an expensive and time-consuming hobby, but the end product of all this time and money is one of the best looking things on four wheels.

The object of his devotion is a custom made hot rod, named the "T" Bone by Mr. Tibball, "because its 'bones' or basic components are from a Model T Ford. In its present form, however, this beauty doesn't look much like the solid black and very practical pickup truck built by Henry Ford in 1914.

It has been completely rebuilt end to end including a new chassis and specially designed running gear. To provide go-power, a 400 horsepower 1968 Chevrolet engine has been installed to replace the old 35 horsepower engine.

Holding down a regular job as advertising manager for Princeton Applied Research, Mr. Tibball spent more than two years of his free time and $5,000 on the car. Last month he entered it in the New Hope Automobile Show, which draws beautiful cars from all over, and won the "Best in Show" award. "But," comments Mr. Tibballs, "it's still not finished."

"Lead Sleds," Pointing out the love many people have for hot rods, Mr. Tibballs comments, "Many young people around the country with a sincere interest in automobiles have disliked the trend toward bigger and heavier automobiles known among the fraternity as "lead sleds" or "superpolluters." They marveled at the beautifully engineered racing engines being developed, but because of their true interest in autos, yearned to have been part of the days when cars were first born.

They admired the engineering genius of such men as Henry Ford. These nostalgic auto enthusiasts formed into groups across the country, groups wearing jackets emblazoned with such jargon names as "Drivin' Dukes," "T Bone Ballers," "Bones" and other such club names announcing their affection for the early car styles.

"The combination of Detroit's hot V-8 engines and the body of an early Ford—usually pirated from a decrepit farmhouse or garage—formed the basis of the hot rod.

Mass communication media including Hot Rod magazine helped spread interest in hot rod construction around the world. Literally thousands of old Fords. Chevys, Plymouths and what have you have since been converted into hot rods."

Began in 1950

"My interest was developed in 1950," says Mr. Tibballs, "when I met two other fellows who had started building their own cars. Both worked as mechanics and spent all their free hours modifying a pair of 1932 Fords they had.

"Back then, to build a rod, one got an acetylene torch and cutout the floor, lowered the car down over the frame (to cut wind resistance), and removed the fenders (to decrease weight and conform to the accepted style). Then you either souped up an early Ford "flathead" engine or installed one of Detroit's new and powerful "overhead valve" engines.

"After many hundreds of hours of detail work, you had an extremely fast street racing machine. As a result of this early exposure, Mr. Tibballs built in 1950 a beautiful Model A Ford Roadster than won many drag strip trophies and many "best design" trophies at east coast hot rod exhibits."

After a ten-year break for college, the army, getting married and starting a family, Mr. Tibballs "had to build another car." (His first was sold before he entered the Army.) Thus, in January 1968, after a year of planning, construction of the "T" Bone began.

Steel was purchased for the frame, front end, rear end, etc. and machined as required. Many parts were ordered from California, including the body — a fiberglass reproduction of the 1914 Model T Ford. Most of the metal parts were chrome plated and all of the parts were fitted together — a job often not easy when one considers that parts were used from a Model T Ford, a 1968 Chevrolet, a Volvo, a Ford truck, a Corvair and many other cars.

145 mph in Nine Secs.

Welding of all parts was done by Quinco Welding of Princeton at no charge because owner Joe Quinn took a personal interest in the project. The car's paint was sprayed through a lace tablecloth to produce an unusual effect by Harold Williams Auto Painting of Princeton. Dozens of coats of lacquer applied by George's Auto Body of Hillsborough add to the sleek appearance of this modernized Model T.

In final form, the "T" Bone weighs about 1200 pounds (less than a Volkswagen) and can accelerate to 145 miles per hour in about nine seconds. Beautiful black leather upholstery dresses up the interior and chrome glistens everywhere.

Mr. Tibbals plans to exhibit his car for the next two years. He will enter it in the National Rod and Custom Show at the New York Coliseum in November. "The competition will really be stiff there," he predicts.

At some point the car will be slightly modified to make it legal for limited street driving. Clear plastic fenders will be added for example. Some years in the future, he may use the car for drag racing.

After two years of hard work, Mr. Tibbals says he's glad to be done. He explains that his wife, Carol, is especially glad it's completed. She has large backlog of projects around their Somerville home to make use of her husband's creative talents.

DRIVING AND DRINKING

Scientists Tests New Theory. A Rutgers University scientist has labeled as "unrealistic" the idea that drinking and driving don't mix.

Dr. Leon Greenberg, executive director of laboratory research at the Rutgers Center of Alcohol Studies, said that the real problem is "knowing your limits" and has developed a device to help do this.

He pointed out that of the 90 million people in the United States who drink, "95 percent of them drink in moderation" and that they enjoy the mild tranquilizing action that helps reduce anxiety and the pleasurable aspects of alcohol, and that "most of these people do drive."

About the five million people whose drinking causes driving problems (they cause 90 per cent of the driving offenses), "the problem with them is not drinking and driving, their problem is drinking," the Rutgers professor said.

Dr. Greenberg criticized the emptiness of the precaution, "If you drink, don't drive," calling it a demand for partial prohibition.

"A more realistic approach is to educate people by providing guidelines about what is appropriate and inappropriate drinking if a person is going to drive."

He compared the problem of knowing a person's own limits for alcohol to the problem of driving a car without a speedometer.

"A speed limit is useless without an instrument panel when the vehicle is going at an illegal speed," Dr. Greenberg said. "A similar indicator should prevail for legal and illegal drinking."

Dr. Greenberg described a simple calculator he recently devised to help people know their limits and decide if they would be safe behind the wheel after consuming a known quantity of alcohol. Called an "Alco Calculator," the device is a simple slide rule that uses data about body weight, number of drinks and drinking time.

Example: A couple arrives at a cocktail party and stays there four hours. He (190 lbs.) drinks four martinis; she (120 lbs.) drinks three. Which one should drive home? Answer: He should.

His blood contains .04 percent alcohol; her contains .06 per cent. The legal minimum for being "under the influence" is .05 percent. If they had decided to leave after only three hours, (but with the same number of drinks), his blood would have contained more than the legal minimum of .05 percent. Quick and easy manipulation of the Alco Calculator tells a person this information.

The Alco Calculator is calibrated in terms of common beverages, with settings for martinis; 12-ounce bottles of beer; whiskeys of 80, 86 or 100 proof, and table (12 percent) and fortified (20 percent) wines. It can be useful to drinkers, vendors, law enforcement specialists, attorneys and driver educators.

"Automobile manufacturers should put one in every glove compartment," Dr. Greenberg suggested. "Driver license examinations should include questions based on understanding how much a driver can drink and still control the vehicle."

He stressed the obligations of vendors under the Dramshop Act, that exists in every state as a reason for equipping pu

Aquatic Program Seeks Aid

The Princeton Regional Schools Department of Physical Education is urgently in need of assistance for its instructional swim program planned for all sixth graders at the Princeton Community Pool.

In order to continue this program, which is scheduled for September 14 through October 13 with the exception of Wednesdays, volunteer instructors, assistants, and even baby sitters are needed.

Those interested in helping should call Mrs. Kay Lasley at 924 5157 or Joseph Drefenbach at 924 5600 ext. 263 at Princeton Middle School. If neither are available, names may be left with the secretary at extension 263.

INSURANCE IS TOPIC Of Retired Persons Meeting

An explanation and evaluation of older persons' insurance plans will be the major issue for the next meeting of Princeton Chapter No. 459 of the American Association of Retired Persons.

A special meeting open to the public is set for 2 p.m. on Thursday, September 10 in the Dorothea House of the YMCA, 120 John Street. Insurance consultant for the Association, Mr. Ann R. Maisch, will address the meeting and discuss individual cases in a question and answer period to follow.

COKE PARTY PLANNED To Welcome Douglass Freshmen

The Princeton Area Douglass Alumnae Club will again host its annual coke party for new freshmen from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m., next Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. Alvin Maze, 39 Carter Road, R.D. 3, between Route 206 and Rosedale Road.

Upperclassmen, faculty members and alumnae in the Princeton area are also invited. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Lynn B. Mann, Douglass Club president, at 924-1140.

The first official meeting of the club is scheduled for early November. The club meets three times a year in the home of its members. Officers are Mrs. Lynn B. Mann, president; Miss Bernadette Harkins, vice president; Mrs. T. Pavlidis, secretary; and Mrs. Edward Holgesang, treasurer. Douglass alumnae interested in club events may call the membership chairman, Mr. Arthur Robinson, at 799-0903.

BIRD PROGRAM PLANNED For Hopewell Garden Club

The Hopewell Valley Garden Club will host bird specialist Richard S. Thorsell at its meeting at 8 p.m., next Wednesday at St. Alphonsus Church Hall.

Mr. Thorsell, past president of the Urner Ornithological Club of Newark and resource director of the Stony Brook Watershed Association, will present a program on birds at the meeting. Currently working in the environmental field for the Electric Utilities Industry, Mr. Thorsell has also been consultant on rare and endangered species of wild life for the International Committee of wild life preservation.

PIANO PROGRAM SET

At Westminster Choir College. The Westminster Choir College is planning a piano preparatory program to provide pre college piano instruction for young people of the Princeton Trenton area.

The program, which will begin this month, will be coordinated by Walter Brennan, acting head of the Westminster Piano Department.

A variety of levels of instruction are planned to include students who have never studied piano through those who are ready for advanced instruction. Classes in beginning piano will comprise five or six students of the same age and meet for two 30 minute sessions every week. One individual lesson and one class per week will be given to each student in elementary, intermediate and advanced piano.

The classes will provide basics in musicianship as well as develop the students' general music skills. All participants will be taught by undergraduates and faculty from the Choir College.

GIRL, 2, STRANGLED With Garage Door Rope. The funeral of a two year old Pennington girl who accidentally strangled in a neighbor's garage Saturday was held Wednesday morning.

Ann Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Filidore, 113 Corrine Drive, was discovered around 6 p.m. by John Huchler of 107 Corrine Drive, after he heard his garage door close. The lot was found with the pull rope of the door around her neck. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Trenton's Mercer Hospital.

Mrs. Houchler reported that the victim had been playing with several neighborhood children.

An Angel mass was held in St. Joachim's Church in Trenton, prior to burial in Our Lady of Lourdes Cemetery.

UNICEF CARNIVAL SET For Thursday. New features have been added to this year's sixth annual UNICEF carnival set for 1 to 4 p.m. on Thursday, at 113 Magnolia Lane. The rain date is the following day.

Along with a spook house, fortune teller, game booths, and white elephant sale, there will also be a children's sing along with guitar accompaniment scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Refreshments will be sold, as well as handmade stuffed toys and animals.

Organizers for this event include Phyllis Dykes, Lisa Irby, Adrienne Lavine, Eva, Naomi, and Miriam Lewin, Naomi Logan, Nancy McCusker, Lori Meek, Dianne Mooney, Denise Oliver, Chizuko Otani, Karen Pike, Ellen Randall, Anne and Emily Swartzentruber, and Julie Winterbottom.

NURSES' AIDES HONORED By Princeton Nursing Home. Eighteen nurse's aides, including six college students, received awards from the Princeton Nursing Home for completion of a three-month orientation under an Earn While You Learn program.

Receiving awards were: Miss Claudine Aye, Mrs. Julia Davila, Mrs. Betty Snead, Mrs. Rita Still and Mrs. Sharon Wright, all of Princeton. Also awarded were Mrs. Margaret Davis, Mrs. Theresa Golden, Mrs. Mary Ferguson, Mrs. Persis Jones, and Mrs. Barbar Pollard of Trenton, and Mrs. Mozel Jones of Bordentown.

College students recognized for their work this summer were Paula Anderson, Sharon Anderson, Judith Diaforli, and Dwight Whitwell all of Princeton, along with Sharon Baker of Pennington and Jane Hubbell of Lawrenceville.

PEOPLE In The News

Andrew T. Hatcher, for many years a resident of Princeton, is currently writing a firsthand account of the days of the Kennedy White House.

Mr. Hatcher, the first to hold the post of deputy press secretary to President Kennedy, also served briefly as a press aide for Lyndon B. Johnson in the early days following the Kennedy assassination. While colleagues launched their accounts of the late John F. Kennedy, Mr. Hatcher reflected on his memories of that era. He has begun now setting in print his version of the Kennedy administration.

Donald G. Herzberg of The Great Road, executive director of the Eagleton Institute of Politics at Rutgers University, has been appointed as a panelist at the annual convention of the American Political Science Association.

The Association, set for September 11 in Los Angeles, will include a panel on Government and Mass Media, on which Mr. Herzberg will serve.

Mr. Herzberg has been executive director of the institute and professor of political science since 1956. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Wesleyan University and did graduate work at Syracuse University. Before coming to Rutgers, he served as assistant to the president of Chatham College and as administrative deputy director of the budget division for New York state.

He has also been special assistant to the comptroller in Connecticut and legislative assistant to U. S. Senator William Benton.

Dr. Morris Parmet, child psychiatrist, and Mrs. Belle Parmet, family counselor, both of 357 Nassau Street attended the International Congress of Child Psychiatry and Allied Professions in Jerusalem.

The meetings comprised psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers and educators from all parts of the world in discussions on The Child in His Family.

Bruce G. Richmond, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Richmond, 347 Rosedale Road, will enter the University of Bridgeport as a freshman this fall.

A June graduate of Princeton High School, Mr. Richmond plans to major in electrical engineering. In his senior year he was a student council representative, member of the concert band, assistant senior patrol leader for Boy Scout Troop 43 and secretary of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad.

Edward M. Galick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Galick of R.F. 2 Harlingen Road, Belle Mead, is taking part in field training at an U.S. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps encampment in Dover, Del.

At the Dover Air Force Base, the cadets are introduced to base life and given a chance to learn about career opportunities for officers. Cadet Galick, who is an AFROTC member at Rutgers, and a 1967 graduate of Princeton High School, will also receive instruction in small arms handling, aircraft and air crew activities, and basis survival.

Five physicians from the service area of Princeton Hospital have been appointed to its medical and dental staff.

Dr. Joseph E. Ringland of 84 Dempsey Avenue, has been named to the associate staff with privileges in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology. Formerly of the staff of the New York Hospital, Dr. Ringland also interned at Genesee Hospital in Rochester. He earned his B.A. from Washington and Lee University in 1950 and was granted his doctorate from the Medical College of Cornell University in 1964.

Dr. Leroy H. Hunninghake, Wheatsheaf Lane, is now a staff member in the Department of Medicine with privileges in internal medicine. After receiving a science degree at St. Benedict's College, Atchison, Ka. in 1955, Dr. Hunninghake was granted a M.D. from the University of Kansas in 1963, where he served his internship with its medical center.

Dr. Hunninghake took up residency in internal medicine at the University of Michigan and held a fellowship in rheumatology at the Rockham Arthritis Unit of the University's medical center. After moving to Princeton, he served with the United States Public Health Service from 1964-66.

Dr. Thomas E. Digby, of Hightstown, was appointed to the associate staff in the Department of General Practice, and assigned to the Department of Pediatrics also. Previously, Dr. Digby was in practice with Dr. Rebecca Notterman in Hightstown following service in pediatrics in the Walston Army Hospital at Fort Dix.

The doctor attended the Western Reserve University in Cleveland, and earned his B.A. degree from Johns Hopkins University in 1963. After receiving his M.D. there in 1966, he served as an intern and resident in North Carolina Memorial Hospital at Chapel Hill, where he held the Wyeth Fellowship in pediatrics in 1967-69.

Dr. F. Robert Downey, of Cranbury was also appointed to the staff with privileges in the Department of General Practice. He will work in the Department of Medicine as well as provide a medical service at Meadow Lakes, the retirement community near Hightstown.

Dr. Downey graduated from Princeton University in 1939. He earned his medical degree at the University of Pennsylvania in 1943 and served his internship and residency at the Philadelphia General Hospital. After eight years of private practice, Dr. Downey became medical director for the Curtis Publishing Company. In 1964 he returned to Princeton University and served until last year with the staff of the McCosh Infirmary.

Dr. David Eckstein 72[illegible] Greenwood Avenue, Trenton and son Dr. Digby and Dr. Downey in the Department of General Practice. In addition he and Dr. Downey will both work in the Department of Medicine as well as serve at Meadow Lakes.

Dr. Eckstein earned his B.A. from Lehigh University in 1934 and his M.D. degree from the Jefferson Medical School in Philadelphia in 1938. He served his internship at St. Francis Hospital in Trenton during the following year and then completed his residency at the City Hospital of New York in 1941. Since then Dr. Eckstein has practiced privately, joined the medical staff of St. Francis Hospital, and served as a consultant to the metabolic division of the Deborah Hospital in Browne's Mills.

Dartmouth and Yale Again Bar Princeton's Path to Ivy Title

CAN TIGERS MAKE IT THREE IN A ROW? Not since the early 50s has Princeton won three straight football games from Dartmouth, but the Tigers have that opportunity again this season. Above, Hank Bjorklund (40) is off on sizeable gain in 35-7 upset of Green last November in Palmer Stadium. Tiger sophomore (whose father is a Dartmouth alumnus) scored three times against previously undefeated Indians.

SPORTS In Princeton

(This is the last in a series of four articles on the prospects of Princeton University's football team in 1970.)

As well balanced as it is, the Ivy League after a decade and a half of organized play is settling firmly into separate camps of "haves" and "have-nots." It has, for example, been ten years since any team save Princeton, Yale or Dartmouth won the title outright, and of the other five, only Penn has ever been an undisputed league champion.

As perennially strong a team as Harvard has only three first-place ties to its credit. Columbia rose to glory only once, when it shared the title with Harvard in 1961, Cornell and Brown between them have never finished higher than third.

It comes as no surprise, therefore that the three teams which shared the crown last fall are odds-on favorites to hold down the top three places again. They have so much going for them that it would be an upset unparalleled in Ivy history if the 1970 championship does not find a home in Princeton, New Haven or Hanover.

In fact, pre-season estimates of the eight teams' potential tend to forecast a finish similar to last year's. Cornell is again the choice to round out first division, Harvard is the best of the returning quartet, with Columbia just possibly finding the strength from a fine group of sophomores to edge out Penn and Brown in the race to stay out of the cellar.

Schedule a Major Factor. If Dartmouth were the last opponent on Princeton's schedule this fall, as it was in 1969, the Tigers could very conceivably rank as a clear-cut favorite to win the title outright. Given the time to rebuild, Jake McCandless handled the unbeaten Indians in rather forthright fashion last November. The key players on the Indians' squad are much the same as a year ago, and it is entirely possible that Princeton on the last day of the 1970 season will again be a better team than Dartmouth.

The game, however will be played at Hanover on October 10, and the extent of the rebuilding McCandless faces makes the outcome very much of a tossup. More than six weeks in advance of the meeting, and before any estimate of field performance is possible, the guess here is that the Tigers will have enough of the momentum they generated in last year's 35-7 triumph to win this key contest of the 1970 season.

There is of course strong likelihood of another 6-1 tie involving some combination of the three defending champions. Yale's astonishing ability to share in the title last fall after most of the elements of the Brian Dowling-Calvin Hill machine of 1968 had graduated makes the Eli is virtually as solid a bet to finish first as either Princeton or Dartmouth.

The Blue has, however, an incipient weakness which somewhere along the line must start to make itself felt. Whereas both the Tigers and the Indians have had consistently well-balanced freshman teams for several years, Yale has not. In the past two seasons, for example Eli first-year elevens have won just two games; Princeton and Dartmouth, on the other hand, have lost only two apiece and last fall were both undefeated.

Cornell and its potential All-American, halfback Ed Marinaro, could upset any of the favorites on a given day, and should dominate the rest of the league. Harvard, too, can make trouble for the contenders but may not solve the same problem facing Cornell: the need for a good quarterback. The other three Ivies all have a number of men who could play for any team in the league but suffer from the weakness that plagues them every season—lack of balance and particularly depth.

A brief look at the personnel picture on the campuses of the other seven teams in the league, plus Rutgers and Colgate, follows.

Dartmouth (8-1-0) has sufficient holdover strength so that it can start a letterman at every position on defense and all but two on offense despite the graduation of 19 players who won letters last fall. The Green's basic losses were in running backs and at end and the deep secondary on defense, but a strong varsity holdover squad has been supplemented by what may well be the strongest and big best freshman team in its history.

Five members of the starting line on offense return, together with three fourths of the backfield — a solid nucleus from the unit which last year placed the Indians among the national leaders in yards gained with an average of better than 400 per game. John Short, the team's top ground gainer, with a fine 6.1 average and better than 700 yards overall, returns, as does quarterback Jim Chasey. Both were All-Ivy.

Only one starter among the front five on defense is back, but there is good depth at virtually all positions. If three of the sophomores can play up to their weights, they'll be solid assets — Jim Ryan at 230 weighs 30 to 35 pounds less than Josh Holloway and Jim Tarazevits.

The hunch here that the Tigers can win again is based on two factors: Dartmouth's inability to handle Princeton's attack last year, and quarterback Jim Chasey's problem in playing under pressure. In the first two games of his career against the Orange and Black, the Indians have made but a single touchdown and on such a basis, the burden of proof rests with the beaten team.

Yale (7-2) was fully as much of a surprise last year in retaining a share of first place as was Princeton in rebounding from a 4-3 record in 1968 and a disastrous start last fall. The Elis apparently feel sure they can do it again — maybe all by themselves: in their position-by-position analysis, their 1970 personnel at all but one is rated either "good" or "excellent."

Unlike a majority of other Ivy teams, the Blue is particularly well fixed at quarterback, where 175-lb. Joe Massey comes off a standout junior year which saw him complete better than 50% of his passes for 1,200 yards and ten touchdowns. A good sophomore, Roly Purrington, who also topped the .500 mark, will back him up. The Elis' regular backfield returns intact, with fullback Bill Primps providing the inside power and speedy tailback Don Martin and wingback Bob Milligan the outside threats.

The Elis have 29 lettermen returning, including nine of 11 defensive starters to match the holdover strength in the backfield. The schedule favors them heavily since they play both their games with Dartmouth and Princeton in the Bowl. If they wind up on top of the Ivy heap this season, it would not be the least bit of a surprise.

Cornell (4-5) had the nation's leading ball carrier in Ed Marinaro, yet one of the Ivy League's weakest scoring punches. While the 210-lb. Marinaro was averaging 156 yards a game, the Ithacans had so many other problems that in one stretch of four consecutive games against Yale, Columbia, Brown and Dartmouth, they scored a total of only 29 points.

They figure to be better this year, although Marinaro is so much of a one-man gang that it would be curtains without him. Senior Rick Furbush and sophomore Barrett Rosser will hattle to give the Red the aerial threat it must have to balance Marinaro's running. Jack Musick must also rebuild his offensive line where only the starting guards return.

The defense can start 11 lettermen, a majority of them regulars last fall, but is a bit thin on overall depth. The combination of Marinaro's tremendous running ability and Musick's finesse as a coach will make Cornell a threat to every team it meets — particularly to the Tigers on the final day of the season. However, the balance and depth necessary to make a run for the title Cornell has never won still appear to be in short supply.

Harvard (3-6), to the surprise of many, came unglued last year and in Coach John Yovicsin's words, "The climb back isn't going to be easy." The Crimson coach has already announced his retirement, effective at the end of the year, and would like nothing better than to preserve his record of never having finished in second division two years in a row.

Harvard's problems are numerous. Only 16 lettermen from last year's team return, only five play offense and none of them is an established quarterback. It was the unsolved search for a player capable of running the team that was responsible for most of the Crimson's troubles last fall, when it defeated only Holy Cross, Columbia and Penn.

Yovicsin has virtually no experience in the backfield, and his only lineman of real promise is 245-lb. split end Pete Varney. The defense wasn't quite as thoroughly decimated by graduation, but there are a number of holes to be filled and the top offensive teams in the league will continue to make life tough for the Crimson. Last year's team yielded an average of nearly three TD's a game, and lost to Brown for the first time in 11 years.

Penn (4-5) lost 24 lettermen and must rebuild much of its offense. Both its ranking quarterbacks were hurt last fall: Bernie Zbrzezni graduated, but hopes are that junior Phil Procaccini can make motions which will propel the Quakers to the glories of the 7-2 season they enjoyed during Zbrzezni's junior year.

However, 177-lb. Greg Leavitt is the only running back of experience, and Penn must depend largely on sophomore strength for its offense. The defense is better staffed, but Coach Bob Odell tips off the team's overall lack of top personnel when he says that only Captain Jim Fuddy, a 215-lb. linebacker, is sure of his job at the outset of preseason practice.

Columbia (1-8) is banking on a 170-lb. sophomore to turn the tide for the Lions and Coach Frank Navarro, who has won only three Ivy games in his first three years. Don Jackson can throw and has some good receivers — but the perennial question on Morningside Heights is who will run the ball.

Fullback Kevin Brown and tailback John Sefcik are most likely varsity holdovers, and will work with Jackson behind an experienced line. The defense too, will be improved but it is doubtful that even the best crop of sophomores Columbia has corralled in a quarter century can move the Lions very far in a single season.

Brown (2-7) hopes that its junior class can lead it upward — no less than 13 players with a year of varsity experience behind them are scheduled to start for the Bruins. In common with Penn and Columbia, the Rhode Islanders have ability at quarterback and an experienced line but not much

Tigers to Win Ivy Title

On the strength of the fact that on the final day of the 1969 season, the best team in the Ivy League was Princeton, the Tigers are TOWN TOPICS' choice to win the title this year.

Belief is that the offense will put more points on the board than the defense will yield while it is being rebuilt. There is little to choose between the two other principal contenders, but the edge goes to Dartmouth, with Yale third and Cornell rounding out first division.

Harvard is picked to finish fifth, but will have trouble doing so if any of the remaining three improves moderately beyond expectations. Columbia sixth, Penn seventh and Brown last, it says here.

KIRKPATRICK RETURNS: Allie Sherman couldn't make it back to Palmer Stadium this year, but returning with the New York Giants as a press aide is Stuart Kirkpatrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Kirkpatrick, Cherry Valley Road.

Sports In Princeton

in the way of a ground game.

Sophomore Nino Moscardi may have the ability to oust senior Bryan Marini in the race for the job as quarterback. Gerry Hart, fullback and co-captain is the top threat as he'll carry along with halfback Bob Flanders.

The defense which yielded better than two points for every one the Bulls made last year remains a problem. Over the years, Brown has lost more Ivy games than any other member of the league and it appears unlikely to vacate the cellar in 1970.

Rutgers (6-3) has virtually its entire defensive platoon back, a major asset while the offense is rebuilding. Gone from the latter unit are Princetonian Bruce Van Ness and the fine quarterback, Rich Policastro along with both ends and three other linemen.

Coach John Bateman thinks he may have the best full back in the country in 230 lb. Steve Ferrughelli, a power runner equipped with good speed. However, to move the ball with authority, the Scarlet must bring quarterback Mike Yanchieff along to replace Policastro satisfactorily, and get the most out of an undersized line.

Rutgers has had spring practice and plays Lafayette the week before it meets Princeton, tremendous advantages for a September game. On the Tigers' ability to reverse the outcome of the horrendous drubbing they took in the centennial game a year ago will hinge much of the success of their 1970 season. If they can't handle Rutgers in the opener it is wholly unlikely they can top Dartmouth two short weeks later.

Colgate (2-3-1) lists among 24 returning lettermen most of its offensive line and three-fourths of its starting backfield, including quarterback Steve Goepel, architect of the 35 points the Red Raiders rolled up against Princeton last fall. There are a couple of good running backs to provide balance on the attack, but considerable rebuilding must be done on the right side of the offensive line and on defense.

Princeton's problem in handling this opponent is one of awareness that it must do a good deal more than show up for the game. The Tigers gave a thoroughly mediocre performance against Colgate last fall but will have the personnel this season to reverse the 1969 outcome if they care enough about winning.

GIANTS, EAGLES RETURN

For Annual Jaycee Classic. Professional football returns to Palmer Stadium Saturday afternoon, when the New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles meet in a pre-season encounter, both struggling to put it all together before the season opens. Kickoff is 2 p.m.

The occasion is the Ninth Annual Jaycee Classic, which has raised more than $1 2 million for charity since its inception in 1962. Another large crowd is expected, but a last minute rush of ticket sales is needed to insure a sellout.

Giant fans may have become somewhat disgruntled over their team's showing here in recent years. After winning the first three the New Yorkers have dropped the next five.

The past couple of years in injury ridden Eagle teams have managed victories over Giant squads that were frequently guilty of poor play. However the New Yorkers have beaten the Eagles the last two years during the regular season.

Last season's 24-17 loss to the Eagles was one of the final contributions to the downfall of Allie Sherman. Just a week or so later, he was relieved by Alex Webster, who led the team to a 6-8 mark in his first year.

The team has some new faces this season but a lot of the old problems remain. Chief Mc Neil has been obtained from the San Francisco Forty-Niners and with Don Hermann and Rich Houston will give the Giants good speed at the receiver spots.

Homer Jones was sent off in Cleveland mainly for Jim Kanicki, to help the team's defensive line. Playing behind Kanicki is former Princeton player Tim McCann, now in his second season with the Giants.

Exhibition games are not the best way to judge the Giants, they've only won one in the last two years, but they have pointed up a host of problems. The team squandered big leads against Green Bay, San Diego and the Jets, losing the first two and nosing out the Jets by four points.

Against Pittsburgh Friday night without Tarkenton the Giants were never in the game as rookie quarterback Terry Bradshaw riddled their defense. Webster has a big job to do on both lines and the secondary, before the opening game.

It's doubtful, however, that he would care to switch places with Jerry Williams, the Eagles' coach. As usual the Birds will be limping into Palmer Stadium beset by numerous injuries. At the moment Leroy Keyes, John Carlos and Bill Bradley are among those sidelined.

The Eagles are also in trouble in their secondary, with Nate Ramsey the only veteran among a group of inexperienced starters. Mel Tom and other linemen will need to put up a strong pass rush to help out.

Veteran quarterback Norm Snead always seems to have one of his best days all season in Palmer Stadium, one of the reasons the Eagles have won the last five games here.

So far in exhibition play Snead and the team have yet to win well, losing to Oakland, Buffalo and Detroit. But the Eagles have come alive in Palmer Stadium in past years, maybe they will continue the streak again this Saturday.

CONTE SWEEPS PLAYOFF

With Teague & Hinds. Conte's Bar erased the memory of last year's upset in the championship playoff's to Teague and Hinds last week when it defeated Teague in the same championship playoff, two games to none.

Conte's claimed the championship of the Princeton Adult Softball League after it edged Teague in the second game 5-3. It won the first easily, 13-4.

In the second game, Jack Robert's hit in the second tied the score at 2-2 and then Conte's added three more in the sixth. Conte's took the heart out of a possible T & H rally in the seventh when catcher Frank Cawley and third baseman Al Toto caught Bob Hoagland in a rundown. Toto making the tag. Had Hoagland scored it would have been 5-4 with one down and runners on second and third.

Frank Cawley's triple was the big offensive blow for Conte's. Hurler Dick Fowler got the win — his fourth consecutive playoff victory.

In the opener, Conte's turned to the bat to club Teague into submission. Frank Cawley had four hits in four at bats, including a homer, brother Wes had three hits and George McVaugh scored three runs. Defensively, Toto and second baseman Doug Watson Jr. teamed up to engineer two crucial double plays.

Teague and Hinds tallied three times in the second inning but were held scoreless the rest of the way by Fowler until the seventh when they scored their last run on two hits.

FINAL WINNERS NAMED

In Bedens Brook Round Robin. Winners in the final tennis round robin for the season at Bedens Brook Club were Jeff Lyle and Ned Harvey in the advanced class, Kevin Kane and Cort Cunningham in intermediate, and Larry Stabler in beginner.

Those participating in advanced were Jeff Lyle, Ned Harvey, John Weiss, Mike Hill, Sue Ross, Kathy Burks, Heidi Eichenberger, Andre Eichenberger, Tom Ferguson, Lee Ross, Larry Ferguson, Lisa Bachelder, Sara Augustine, Ted Thomas, David Hargrave and Molly Sword.

In intermediates: Chuck Kohli, Billie Ross, Doug Ferguson, Jamie Thompson, John McKinney, Cort Cunningham, Kevin Kane, Pam McCabe, Holly Light, Holly Burks, Cary Bachelder, Kathy Kane, Cheryl Eppel and Ted Stabler.

In beginners: Larry Stabler, Julie Stabler, Michael McCabe, Sheila McCabe, Jennie Chandler, Ibby Carothers and Judy Jeydell.

NEW TEAM ADDED

To Midget Football. A new team sponsored by the Rug and Furniture Mart has been added to the Princeton Midget Football League to accommodate the increasing number of players.

It will join other junior division teams sponsored by Hilton Realty Co., First National Bank and J. P. Cleaver Co. A fourth team in the division is still in need of a sponsor. A fourth sponsor is also needed in the senior division where Nassau Concver Motors, Princeton Fuel Oil and Princeton University Store support teams.

Now starting its sixth season, the league will follow last year's scheduling which has the senior teams playing a six game intramural set on Sunday afternoons and the junior division a four-game schedule on Saturday mornings.

Complete information about registration, tryouts and practice sessions may be obtained by calling league president Dick Thompson at 924-5472 or Dale Madden at 924-2989.

JUNIOR TOURNEY SET

For Tennis Players. There is still time to enter the YMCA/Princeton Recreation Department local junior tennis championships which begin Tuesday, at Community Park courts.

The 16 and under division will be held this coming week, the 14 and unders the week of September 14, and the 12 and unders the week of September 21.

Entry blanks may be obtained from the YMCA, the Recreation office in Township Hall, the Varsity Sport Shop, or any of the school tennis coaches.

The tournaments are being conducted in cooperation with the middle school and elementary school athletic coaches. Anyone who has a commitment to after-school sports will be excused the first day of the tournament to play the first round of matches. Subsequent matches will then be scheduled by the tournament referee. Scott Princeton Recreation Department.

Midget Football Notice

All boys interested in playing in the Princeton Midget Football League this fall should register Wednesday or Thursday evening, September 9-10, between 6:30 and 8:30 in the Valley Road School gymnasium.

All boys who live in Princeton or attend school here and will be nine years old but not 14 anytime this year are eligible. All boys — new and former players — must register in person. No late registration permitted. Early, so as not to conflict with school obligations.

To shorten the length of matches, the tournament will use the new tie-break or sudden death system of scoring, which the Open Championships at Forest Hills and other national events have adopted this year.

The Varsity Sports Shop is donating all of the trophies for these championships. There is no entry fee except that each contestant must bring a can of new tennis balls.

Headquarters for the event is Community Park courts. For further information and/or entry blanks, contact John Springer at the YMCA or Don Barr.

TWO GIRLS DO WELL

In Wilmington Tennis. In the last sanctioned tournament of the summer season—the Wilmington City Open Championships, Vicki Austin and Mary Ellen Hirst brough runner-up trophies back to Princeton for reaching the finals of the Girls 18 doubles. In a three set match, they met the team of Carol Sawyer of Wilmington and June Greenfield of Philadelphia, 6-2, 2-6, 6-0.

In the round just before the finals, Miss Austin and Miss Ellen met another Princeton area player, Terry Blake. Terry's partner was Pam Moss of Easton. They lost in a close match, 7-5, 8-4.

Both girls also reached the semi-finals of the Girls 16 singles, Terry being eliminated by the number two seed, June Greenfield, 6-1, 6-1, and Vicki by the number one seed, Carol Sawyer, 6-1, 8-6.

Bill Schmidt was the top Princeton contestant among the boys. He reached the semi-finals of the 16's before being ousted by Jeff Olmstead of Wilmington, and the quarters of the 18's where he was defeated by John Burrus of Spring Lake.

Other Princeton area entries were Sherry and David Baunt

SENIOR TITLE DECIDED

Soderman N.Y. Life Crowned. In the game for the championship of the Princeton Youth Baseball Association senior division, Soderman N.Y. Life defeated Thorne Pharmacy, 8-6, Sunday at Marquand Park.

Winning pitcher George Boccanfuso gave up four hits, two each by Thorne shortstop Mark Richards and catcher Mike Shillaber. Greg Kline, the losing pitcher, was touched for seven hits.

After loading the bases in the fourth and fifth innings and failing to score, the Lifers checked in the sixth for their winning runs. George Reynolds walked, Steve Kopp doubled, Tom Stanga singled and Bob Silverman doubled. Stanga had three hits in four at bats, while Kopp was 2 for 4.

To reach the final game, the N.Y. Life club stopped Princeton Bank and Trust earlier in the day, 10-4. This time Boccanfuso and Stanga exchanged places with Boccanfuso behind the plate and Stanga on the mound. Each excelled in victory.

Stanga gave up just four hits, Boccanfuso scored four runs and was 2 for 2 at the plate, including a triple. Reynolds, 3 for 3, and Kopp, 2 for 3, combined for five of the nine hits off PRT hurler, John Videbeck.

Second baseman Mario De Venecenzi accounted for half of the Bank's four hits. One was a double. Gil Spencer and John Gaudioso had the other two.

Thorne's reached the finals when it defeated PBA, 5-2, in a game noteworthy for fine pitching on both sides.

Winning pitcher Bob Speagle yielded two hits, one less than his counterpart on the mound, John Mooney. Pete Neuwirth, Dudley Woodbridge and Speagle hit safely for Thorne's; John Madden and John Giancarasso for PBA.

TENNIS TOURNEYS SET

In West Windsor. Registration will close Thursday, September 10 for eight tennis tournaments planned for residents of West Windsor during the next seven weeks. Most of last year's champions will return to defend their titles, except for Steve Nuding now a freshman at MIT. Last year's only double winner, Nuding will be unable to help defend his boys' doubles or father-son title.

The men's doubles, starting Saturday, September 12, will get the program underway. Last year's winners were Ralph Bloom and Cliff Crawford.

Other dates of tournaments and last year's winners are: Women's Doubles, September 19, Gwenda Little and Yonne MacDonald. Boys' Doubles, September 26, Tim and Steve Nuding. Father-Son Doubles, September 26, Norm and Steve Nuding; Women's Singles, October 3, Mary Henry. Boys' Singles, October 3, Dave Fry. Men's Singles, October 10, Bernt Midland; and Mixed Doubles, October 24, held for the first time.

To register call or write Bernt Midland, 1 Rumford Way, Princeton Junction, 799-1042.

AWARDS PRESENTED

To Stoney Brook Swimmers. Awards were presented last week to leading swimmers of the Stoney Brook Swim Club at a first annual team picnic at Stoney Brook.

Outstanding swimmer awards were presented to Nancy Carver, Heidi Bergman and David Baldwin. Designated as most improved swimmers were Joanne Wert and Kevin Bruzzio, while Heidi Kelley, Tina Bergman and Larry Chun were singled out for hardest worker awards.

Earlier, the team completed its first season with a 62-56 victory over Ravine Club of West Trenton. The win was its fourth in dual meet competition.

Stoney Brook captured three of four relay races to overcome an early Ravine lead. Double winners for the victors were Tom Mitchell, Nancy Carver, Jennifer Johnson, Heidi Bergman, Tina Bergman and Amy Monteleone.

In the Bedens Brook Country Club Invitational Swim Meet last week, Miss Carver finished second in the 8 and under 25-yard freestyle.

THIRD MEET WON

By Bedens Brook. Bedens Brook Swim team claimed its third summer victory in the latest area meet, outscoring its nearest rival by a 32 point margin.

Competing against ten other teams in the area, Bedens Brook compiled 84 points among the 17 swimming events of the meet. Round Top team, with a 52 point score, finished second; Ben Franklin, was third with 42 points; Crossvicks won 36 points for fourth place; and Brooktree earned the fifth place trophy with 35 points.

Top scorer for Bedens Brook, Cyra Cain won three gold medals and a silver prize for finishing first in the girls 14-and-under, girls 17-and-under events and the girls 17-and-under free relay. She also placed second in the step-up medly relay. Notable for setting new pool records were Bobby Hiel in the boys eight-and-under division, Mike Hill in the boys 12-and-under event and Bob Nering in the boys 14-and-under set.

SALES RISE SHARPLY

At Dataram, Dataram Corporation, Route 206, has reported net earnings of $84,214 for the fiscal year ended April 30, 1970. This is in contrast to a net loss of $299,386, incurred during the company's first full year of operation, in fiscal 1969.

The net earnings for 1970 resulted from net sales of $2,119,024 (an increase of 89% over last year's net sales of $731,019) plus other income of $14,537. Higher earnings had been anticipated, but a change in accounting procedure related to off-shore operations, affected the profit picture.

Per share earnings for fiscal 1970 amounted to 10 cents, as opposed to a loss of 46 cents in 1969.

John W. Dymecki, Dataram President, attributed the company's upsurge to several factors, prominent among them a broader recognition in the marketplace of Dataram's name, its product line and its technological skills. This was reflected in the number of customers serviced — three times the number serviced in early 1969.

Other growth factors were the acceptance of newly introduced Dataram products, such as memory systems, and the growth of Dataram's Philippine affiliate and its Trinidad subsidiary, both of which offer the benefits of substantially lower, off shore labor costs.

Dataram manufactures memory cores, planes and stacks, complete memory systems and test equipment. The firm utilizes its own cores in producing its planes and stacks, its own planes and stacks to formulate Dataram memory systems and its own testing systems to check out all its products.

This vertical integration — unique in the memory industry — affords Dataram a more favorable competitive position, from the standpoint of material costs and availabilities. The company looks to memory cores and test equipment to enhance the sales and profit picture for fiscal 1971.

BRANDON ACQUIRED

By Philadelphia Firm. Auerbach, an international management consulting, computer systems architect, and publishing organization, has announced the acquisition of the publishing business of Brandon/Systems Press, Inc., Route 206.

The acquired firm will be operated under the name of Auerbach Publishers Inc., a subsidiary of Auerbach Corporation for Science and Technology. Auerbach Publishers Inc. will continue to publish professional and reference books in data processing, management, information sciences, and programmed instruction, and general non-fiction books under the Vertex imprint.

The acquisition will complement our existing publications program of multi-volume loose leaf reference services which are the standard encyclopedia in the information sciences industry," said Isaac L. Auerbach, president.

Auerbach Publishers Inc. will continue to maintain headquarters in Princeton.

Richard G. Lamb, Auerbach Vice President, has been designated corporate executive in charge of the publishing operation. Orlando Petrocelli will continue as publisher and Manager of Auerbach Publishers Inc.

CONSTRUCTION BEGUN

On New Mettler Headquarters. Mettler Instrument Corporation has started construction of a new headquarters in Hightstown.

The Mettler company, which manufactures and markets analytical instrumentation for mass and thermal measurements, is planning a two unit structure to connect with the offices of an existing plant. Mettler also has offices in Princeton.

The first floor of the 25,000 sq. ft. office building will contain a conference room, laboratories for applications work and customer demonstrations, facilities for training by the educational services department, and electronic data processing and mail rooms. All executive, marketing, advertising, and personnel offices will be on the second floor. The completion date is next summer.

MANAGER NAMED

For WHWH. John J. Morris has been appointed general manager of the Nassau Broadcasting Company's Princeton based radio station, WHWH.

Mr. Morris, who joined WHWH in 1964 as a salesman, has previously been station manager and general sales manager. Prior to joining the station, Mr. Morris was employed by the American Forces Radio Network in Europe as special events director. He is president of the Princeton Kiwanis Club, an incorporator of the New Hamilton Bank, a member of the Better Business Bureau and the Overseas Press Club.

Also assuming a new position in the Nassau Broadcasting Company is Daniel F. Covell, newly elected vice president of the Corporation. Mr. Covell will also take on the duties of general manager of the FM division, consisting of YTOA Trenton and WJZZ, Bridgeport, and flagship stations of Passport Radio, a new radio format schedule to begin September 13.

POST OFFICE MOVES

To West Windsor Site. Arena Moving Company spent most of this Wednesday moving the Princeton Post Office Annex to its new location on Alexander Road across Route One in West Windsor Township ahead of a previously announced date of "sometime after Labor Day."

Firm mail messengers will pick up their mail from that building starting Thursday, Postmaster John L. Dilworth announced. The new building will not be open to the public right away, but will have window and box service available at a future date.

Box applications are being accepted now, for post office boxes in the new building and "West Windsor Annex" should be noted on the form when it is presented, Mr. Dilworth noted. The Palmer Square building will still remain in service, but many bulk mailers will now use the new annex.

NEW PRODUCT DEVELOPED

By Applied Data Research.

Applied Data Research, Inc., Route 206, a leading proprietary software and service company, has announced its most recent software product MetaCobol, a Cobol macro translator.

MetaCobol, a proprietary software system, will be marketed nationally starting in September, by the company's more than 20 sales offices. It represents the latest development in a growing line of products resulting from Applied Data Research's 10 years of intensive work in Cobol, the standard language in the computer industry for commercial data processing.

ADR's association with Cobol started in 1960 when in conjunction with RCA, the company produced the first Cobol compiler. Since that time ADR has been continuously involved in furthering the development, implementations, and use of the Cobol language and compilers.

Obituaries

Whitney Darrow, 89, formerly of Princeton, died August 27 in Fairfield, Conn. He was first director of the Princeton University Press.

Mr. Darrow helped organize the Princeton University Press in 1905 and was associated with it until his retirement in 1951 as chairman of the board of trustees in 1951.

A member of the Princeton Class of 1903, Mr. Darrow, while still an undergraduate, was a member of the group of Princetonians who started the Princeton Alumni Weekly in 1900. The magazine is the only weekly alumni publication in the country.

His activities with the "Weekly" led to his interest, after graduation, in establishing a university press. He served as manager, a title later changed to "director," from 1905 until 1917 when he became book advertising manager with Charles Scribner's Sons. He rose to the position of executive vice-president of Scribner's.

Mr. Darrow was active in various aspects of Princeton University affairs. He was president of his class from 1923 to 1928, vice-chairman of the bicentennial celebration in 1946-47 and president of the Daily Princetonian Publishing Co. from 1919 to 1946.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Alice W. Darrow; a son, cartoonist Whitney Darrow Jr. of Wilton, Conn., a daughter, Mrs. Jerome Stavola of Blue Hill, Me., and a sister, Miss Mary A. Darrow of Natick, Mass.

The service was held in the University Chapel, Rev. Dr. Frederick Fox officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

Memorial gifts may be made to Princeton University or to charity.

IN MEMORIAM

Petrone
In sad and loving memory of Antonio Petrone who passed away September 1, 1968
You're not forgotten, father dear,
Nor ever shall you be,
As long as life and memory last,
We shall remember thee
Dearly loved and sadly missed
By Petrone Family

Mrs. Pamelia Ann Dickinson of 29 Edgehill Street died August 26 in Princeton Hospital.

A Princeton resident for 40 years, Mrs. Dickinson was a native of Montgomery County, Md. She was a member of Trinity Episcopal Church Altar Guild and the Present Day Club.

Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. G. Ernest Dale Jr. of Princeton.

The service was held in Trinity Church, with interment in All Saints' Cemetery, under direction of the Mather Funeral Home. Memorial gifts may be sent to the Humane Society.

Oliver E. Lewis Sr., 96, a lifelong resident of Hopewell Township, died August 30 at his home near Woodsville. He was a retired farmer and businessman.

Mr. Lewis formerly operated the contracting firm of O. E. Lewis & Son. He was a member of the N.J. Farm Bureau and Milk Producers Association and was for many years road supervisor of Hopewell Township. He was a charter member of the POS of A Lodge.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Anna E. Burd Lewis, whom he married some 75 years ago, three sons, Maurice R. of Harbourton, Walter R. of Pennington and Albert L. of New Hope, Pa.; a daughter, Mrs. Roy Steepy of West Trenton; a stepsister, Mrs. Bertha Hodson of Roebling; nine grandchildren and 21 great grandchildren. The service was held in Hopewell, the Rev. Stuart Snedeker of Linvale Methodist Church officiating. Interment was in Harbourton Cemetery.

Edward H. Stives, 60, of 204 Washington Road, Penns Neck, died August 30. He was a retired plumber.

Born in Alma, N. Y., Mr. Stives lived in Penns Neck for 33 years. He was a veteran of World War II.

Surviving are three sons, Donald E. of Hightstown, Richard L. of Grovers Mill and David A. of Oakland, Calif.; three brothers, John of Little Silver, Albert of Princeton and George of Morrisville, Pa., and five grandchildren.

A graveside service was held in Penns Neck Cemetery, the Rev. Dr. Walter P. Carvin of Princeton Baptist Church officiating. Arrangements were made by the Kimble Funeral Home.

News Of The CHURCHES

NEW RABBI BEGINS

At Jewish Center. Rabbi Hershel J. Matt has taken up his new duties at the Princeton Jewish Center. He succeeds Rabbi Reeve Brenner, now in Israel.

Rabbi Matt, formerly of Temple Neve Shalom in Metuchen, is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania in 1943, Gratz College and The Hebrew Teachers Training School. He received his rabbinical ordination and master of Hebrew letters from the Jewish Theological Seminary (Conservative), New York City, in 1947.

He is a member of the Rabbinical Association of America and served as chairman of the committee on home and synagogue practices. He was also a member of the Executive Council and of committees on Prayer Book Revision, ethics and convention program.

The author of pamphlets for the United Synagogue on aspects of practice and education, his articles on theological subjects have appeared in The New Hampshire Churchman, Conservative Judaism, Commentary, Jewish Heritage, The Synagogue School and Judaism. He is one of the invited contributors to "The Condition of Jewish Belief," (MacMillan Company, New York).

He is married to the former Gustine Kanarek and has four children, Jonathan, Daniel, David and Deborah.

Rabbi Hershel J. Matt

WESTMINSTER CHOIR COLLEGE
announces the inauguration of a
Piano Preparatory Division
Fall 1970

PIANO INSTRUCTION AT ALL PRE-COLLEGE LEVELS

Beginning Piano

A unique opportunity for Princeton youngsters to begin piano study at Westminster Choir College. Children, ages 7 through 12, who have never studied piano before, meet twice a week in groups of 5 or 6 for 30-minute lessons taught by carefully selected Westminster undergraduates under the supervision of Richard Chronister, educational director of National Keyboard Arts Associates.

Registrations for fall are now being accepted. Enrollment in Beginning Piano is limited. For further information call:

National Keyboard Arts Associates
609-452-9330

Elementary • Intermediate • Advanced Piano

Non-beginners are enrolled in Elementary, Intermediate or Advanced Piano, determined by audition, and receive one individual lesson per week with one of the experienced instructors on the preparatory piano faculty. In addition, they meet once a week in small groups for basic musicianship classes designed to complement the study of piano with emphasis on the development of general music skills.

Applications for fall are now being accepted. For information regarding Elementary, Intermediate and Advanced Piano call:

Living room with fireplace, dining room, beautiful kitchen, 2 bedrooms, and bath, plus a heated, glass-walled terrace room. Exceptional! $59,500

OVERBROOK DRIVE . . . in one of Princeton's most attractive neighborhoods, noted for its lofty trees, and mature landscaping we offer a charming one-story home with 3 bedrooms, 2 baths and family room (or 4th bedroom) with separate entrance. Living room 16'x24', with fireplace, dining room and 16'x24' kitchen. Interior newly painted. $59,500

SHADY BROOK . . . spacious 5-bedroom home with 2 baths, powder room and central air-conditioning. Living room with fireplace (large enough for grand piano!) Beautiful lot with many trees. Large recreation room. A wonderful home in a neighborhood with lots of playmates. $66,500

SIX BEDROOMS . . . and 3 baths! On a wooded lot in North Lawrence, this is an excellent house for a growing family. Foyer with slate floor, living room with fireplace, dining room, large kitchen, laundry, family room, den, 2 bedrooms and 2 baths are on the first floor. Second floor: 3 bedrooms, 1 bath. Three-zone heat with baseboard radiation. $69,500

COUNTRY HOME . . . on 5 lovely acres a few miles west of Hopewell, an old Colonial farm house, professionally restored (and with central air conditioning, too!) offers the kind of relaxed country living that you, perhaps, have often dreamed of. Entrance hall, study, powder room, nicely proportioned living room with fireplace, family-dining room with fireplace, large kitchen with eating area, screened porch. Upstairs, 3 bedrooms, 1 bath. Beautiful old shade trees shelter the house, and random-width pine floors make most of the rooms easier to decorate. 3-car garage with studio above. (22 more acres available) $72,500

Many more fine homes in Princeton & vicinity in a wide range. Ample parking space for our clients.

The difference between a dead-end cellar and a basement-for-living

Without direct access to the out of doors, your basement becomes a seldom used, dead end area, instead of a "live", low cost space for the enjoyment of your whole family.

A BILCO Basement Door costs so little when it's included in the foundation construction With it, you will as much as double the living space of your new home! Let us show you how easily and inexpensively you can include a BILCO Door and Stair Stringers in your building plans.

GENTLEMAN'S FARM Large restored colonial on 23 acres, app 20 minutes to Princeton with a very picturesque country setting including a stream, a stocked pond plus a winding driveway lined with blue spruce. There's also a large 2 story barn ideal for horses or other large livestock. The main house dates back well over 100 years with 9 rooms, 3½ baths, (4 bedrooms) 4 fireplaces and much old charm including random width floors and there's a huge raised flagstone terrace with an extra nice view. Out of state owner asking $90,000. There's more land available if so desired

LOTS OF BEAUTY AND A LOT OF VALUE in this large beautiful contemporary on Wendel Drive, one of Pennington Borough's finest streets, this home offers you many custom features such as central air conditioning, 2 refrigerators, gas incinerator, dishwasher, built in charcoal grill, wall to wall carpeting, custom draperies and much more. It all begins with a wide flagstone entry that leads to 7 oversize luxurious rooms, 3½ baths and many happy hours and it's just been reduced to $59,900, immediate possession.

VERY ATTRACTIVE; this large Southern style Colonial is as pretty as a picture accented with huge white columns; this beauty will provide you with 8 rooms, 2½ baths including a large living room with fireplace and formal dining room, both with expensive wall to wall carpeting, family room, ultra modern kitchen, 4 corner bed rooms, full basement, 2 car garage, black top driveway plus a large patio. It's just the place for your family to call home and it's only $39,900

ELIZABETH JAMES SAYS:

NEW HOPE has been called Princeton's "Left Bank". Certainly we have an informality and a gaiety here which is important. That is why you might like this charming white frame house situated in the heart of New Hope with frontage on the Delaware River. There are attractive lawns, beautiful old shade trees, a boating dock. The house has a large living room, modern kitchen, 3 bedrooms, sewing room and bath. Just reduced to $36,900.

BRAND NEW LISTING

A willow tree in front sways softly and gently in the sumer breezes. The house nestles among pine, fir, spruce and many other specimen shrubs and trees. All surrounded by a lawn of velvety, green grass. A quiet, lovely setting to see a family grow in.

Inside room after family room unfolds with warmth and convenience. Family closeness, but privacy when needed. A fireplace, 4 or 5 bedrooms, 3 baths, central air conditioning, extra hot water (for long, hot showers), a huge panelled, book cased den/family room, big windows looking out on trees and grass and field and woods beyond. Storage-storage-storage-inside and out!

A grand patio and a 20'x10' heated swimming pool with its own landscaped terrace enclosed with a natural wood fence for privacy. All surrounded by fields and woods for miles of children running and playing away from streets.

A great location very near Princeton just off the Princeton-Lawrenceville Road (with Princeton Phone and Address). Offered At $75,000
